Senate Hearing Ordered on Labor Draft Bill

GUNS TRAINED ON COMMAND TO WORK OR FIGHT

Conscription Should Be By Law, Not By Edict, Solons Declare

FDR'S PLAN THREATENED Congressional Situation Also Involves Great Army Opposition

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19 — The Senate Military Affairs Committee today ordered hearings beginning March 2 on the Austin-Wadsworth labor draft bill as the administration's "work or fight" edict was threatened by action in both branches of congress.

Sen. Warren R. Austin (R) Vt., co-author of the compulsory labor draft bill, charged that the administration's present program "is one of drafting or conscripting workers by order instead of by law."

Involving opposition to the program for 11,000,000 men in the armed services this year, the congressional situation was:

1. House military leaders predicted passage by overwhelming vote of the Kilday bill compelling the drafting of all single men before married men are called, despite administration opposition. The military committee backed it by a 22 to two vote.

2. Sen. John H. Bankhead (D) Ala., increased to 37 the number of senators backing his bill to halt the drafting of farmers and farm workers. This number is but 12 less than a majority of the senate, and Bankhead expects several senators, who are absent from the city, to support the measure. His bill directing the furlough of farmers in the armed services in this country drew less support.

3. Despite strong opposition to a compulsory labor draft law, Austin and other influential backers voiced belief that eventually congress will approve a law instead of draft by bureaucratic decree.

McNutt Edict Hit
Assailing the "work or fight" order of Manpower Commissioner Paul V. McNutt, under which workers, including men with children, are denied exemption from the draft unless they get in "essential" industries, Austin said this method arouses resentment among the people.

He said: "The sanctions for the order are indirect, namely, men between 18 and 38 are threatened with being inducted into the armed forces; second, those between 38 and 65 are threatened, if they leave their jobs to which they are ordered, that they will be in effect 'blacklisted' because employers who have signed stabilization agreements will be bound to refuse employment, and third, the most sweeping of the indirect sanctions is the threat to the employer that he may be denied pri-

Wartime Ceiling for Glamor, Too?

EYES ON YOUR WORK, FELLOW! This is what officials of Cessna aircraft plant say happens when girl workers wear clothing that fits too well attracting male eyes.

COMFORTABLE Vera Mancusi wears sweaters, because she thinks they are comfortable and convenient for her job of producing war materiel

OFFICIALS' CHOICE This is the type of costume most war plant officials would prefer their feminine workers to wear—comfortable, safe and practical

OH, MY! Mail carrierettes at Miami Beach don't work in war plants, but you can guess what would happen to production if they walked past one GLAMOR girl sweaters have become a highly controversial article of apparel with the influx of sweet young things into war plants. Most plant officials frown on them, claiming reasonably enough that production suffers because of the diverting effect on male workers' attention. Many of the girls, however, are adamant on the issue. 75 walking out of one plant and slowing production themselves because of an official ban. Here are illustrated some of the approved and disapproved costumes for plant wear.

WARTIME SPRING FASHIONS BLOOM

New Garments Lose None Of Feminine Charm Despite Emphasis On Practical

NEW YORK, Feb. 19—Glamour dress you can both wear and walk in; waistline corsages to accent priority slim skirts; light accents for safety on dimmed-out streets; dresses and suits to do year-round duty would clothes follow shoes on the ration lists—

These were the fashions for a wartime Spring presented to the public today by Mainbocher; a collection that lost none of its feminine charm despite its emphasis on the practical.

Suit jackets are even shorter and the suits themselves do double duty. The jacket and skirt are simple and plain, but the blouse leads a double life. It's only an accent of color when the jacket is worn, but with the jacket removed, the blouse and skirt are a dressy ensemble.

Halter backs were introduced for wear under Summer suits. The front of the blouse is beaded and the back is composed simply of a halter top and panel down the back.

Flowers, huge roses, colorful artificial corsages, long sprays of blossoms and several bunches clustered together marked the waistline of a majority of the dresses in the collection. They were fastened to the belts, tucked under belts, fastened to the midriff or worn dripping down the sides on dresses. Even suits had flowers; instead of being worn at the shoulder they were fastened on the left side just above the waist on slim, short-jacketed suits. Slim coats in wool or brocade that can be worn over slips in place of a dress were also shown. There was little change in the (Continued on Page Three)

BRITISH DENY GANDHI SINKING IN POONA CELL

NEW DELHI, Feb. 19—Reports that Mohandas K. Gandhi is in a "sinking" condition as the result of his self-imposed 21-day fast, now in its tenth day, were denied today.

No bulletin was issued on the condition of the 73-year old Hindu leader, but attending physicians advised him against receiving visitors.

Earlier today it was reported that Devadas Gandhi, eldest son of the Mahatma, was hurrying to his father's bedside in the palace of the Aga Khan at Poona after hearing that he was in a "sinking" condition.

Gandhi is being held prisoner as the result of a civil disobedience campaign begun last August. He began his latest fast in an effort to win freedom for associates in custody with him.

Official concern was expressed over his condition yesterday when it was said that his heart action was growing feebler.

At the outset of his fast, Gandhi said he would take only orange juice and water for a period of 21 days.

FRANCO STIRS U. S. CURIOSITY

Spanish Leader Sending Axis Foe General On American Mission

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19—Considerable interest was aroused in diplomatic circles in Washington today by the disclosure that Spanish Generalissimo Francisco Franco is sending one of his leading pro-allied generals on a visit to this country.

The Spanish embassy confirmed reports that Gen. Juan Beigbeder, a member of the Spanish general staff and former foreign minister, will arrive in the United States within a few days.

Purpose of Beigbeder's visit is not being disclosed for the present. However, he is noted for his American and British sympathies. His friendly attitude toward this country and Great Britain was considered to be one of the main reasons why he lost his job as foreign minister of Spain in 1940, at a time when the pro-Nazi elements were riding high in that country.

Beigbeder also was a former high commissioner of Spanish Morocco, and it is thought that his visit may have some bearing on the North African situation. Spain has been maintaining a large army in Spanish Morocco, a fact which has caused some concern in official quarters in Washington.

There has been a good deal of speculation in diplomatic circles over the danger of Hitler moving through Spain and across the Straits of Gibraltar into Spanish Morocco to outflank the American forces in North Africa. The more assurances this government receives that Spain and its North African protectorate will resist (Continued on Page Three)

HOUSE HEEDS LABOR PROTEST ON RACKET BILL

Records To Be Opened For Union Testimony Before Action Is Taken

C. I. O. CHIEFTAIN TO TALK

Murray Says Measure Ill Conceived And Advises Against Haste

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19—In response to demands of labor leaders, Chairman Sabath (D) Ill., today moved to open the record of the House Rules Committee for union protests before action is taken on the controversial Hobbs anti-racketeering bill.

As the committee convened for consideration of the measure, Sabath said he was prepared to ask that CIO President Philip Murray and other representative labor leaders be heard despite rules ordinarily eliminating "outsiders." Sabath contended that while such action was "unusual" it was not without precedent.

At the same time, Rep. Walter (D) Pa., reiterated his intention to ask that any rule granted be made "sufficiently broad" to permit him to offer his labor injunction bill as a substitute for that of Rep. Hobbs (D) Ala.

Walter Bill Backed
Of the Walter bill Sabath himself commented:

"It's not as severe and unreasonable as the Hobbs bill." The Walter bill, which permits federal courts to issue injunctions in labor disputes, sharply defines "lawful labor objectives," and outlaws war-time strikes, carries a penalty of $5,000 fine or one year imprisonment, or both. The Hobbs bill, without mentioning labor unions, provides a penalty of $10,000 fine or 20 years imprisonment, or both.

The Hobbs bill strikes at any interference with interstate commerce, as well as shipments of war goods or troops, domestic or foreign.

Sabath, holding a letter from Murray in which the CIO chief protested against "unreasoning haste to push through so ill-conceived a measure," said he felt such labor groups as the CIO, AFL and railroad brotherhoods should be granted hearing by the Rules Committee.

Murray Protests

Speaking of the Judiciary Committee which reported the Hobbs bill on the basis of testimony taken last year, Murray wrote:

"The committee acted without hearings, without announcement of its deliberations and without according any forum for public debate or expression of views on the bill. . . The authors of the Hobbs bill are seeking action merely to eliminate present language protecting legitimate labor activities and to insert language (Continued on Page Three)

HOUSE VOTES PEN TERMS FOR TIRE THIEVES

Drastic penalties would be imposed for the theft of automobile tires and the removal of tires, tubes, wheels and gasoline from automobiles without the owners' consent, if a bill, passed by the Ohio House of Representatives and sent to the Senate today, gets approval of the upper house.

The measure makes the theft of tires either from storage or stocks or cars punishable by a penitentiary sentence of one to seven years and a maximum fine of $1,000. The same penalty would apply to the theft of gasoline from a car or the removal of inner tubes or wheels or rims from a car.

Prosecution of such offenses now is obtained either under the grand larceny laws or under the statute imposing a three-to-six month penalty and a fine of $100 to $500 on removal of tires from an automobile without the owner's knowledge.

Sixth U. S. Army Set To Launch New Blows In Australian Region

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19—Backing America's aerial offensive in the south and southwest Pacific, a new U. S. army—the sixth—today is poised in the Australian area for new blows against Japan on the long road to the Philippines and Tokyo.

In command of this newly-organized army is a tough, able veteran of two previous wars—Lieut. Gen. Walter Krueger—who knows the Philippines because he spent a year mapping the archipelago.

Krueger's appointment comes, significantly, at a time when American and United Nations forces in New Guinea are forcing the Japs back toward Salamaua, and U. S. land, sea and air forces are tightening their firm grip on the southern Solomons.

It also comes at a time when plans are being mapped in Washington and the war zones for new surprise blows against Japan, probably by land, sea and air throughout the Pacific and in China.

The fact that the move to organize the sixth army headed by Krueger was suggested by Gen. Douglas MacArthur, supreme commander of United Nations forces in the southwest Pacific, may mean he is getting set to expand his sphere of operations.

When MacArthur left the Philippines 11 months ago, he promised to "return" in triumph and there has been no indication since that time that he intends to waiver in that objective.

Selection of Krueger to head the sixth army undoubtedly is a step in that direction, and in the general direction of Tokyo.

Krueger knows the Philippines through service there at the turn of the century and he learned much about the archipelago's scattered islands during the year he spent mapping them.

Future plans of the American high command in the Pacific must remain a mystery, but it is no secret that the New Guinea and Solomons offensives are aimed directly at the heart of Japan's military machine.

Disclosure that the United States now has in the Australian area enough troops to form an army indicates strongly that new and important operations are in the offing. Krueger has the background to direct such an army in any operation.

Take Cleopatra—ah what an idea—could she have charmed Anthony in a wind breaker with holes in the elbows?

Ah no my friends. . . There are some things we don't talk about. Take the case of Miss A.—single, 26, blonde, a welder making $382 a week. Would you have her come to work in her mother's cardigan jacket?

If she can afford an angora snuggle-smoothie, she deserves one. Shall we say to her "looka here Miss A.—if that's your nom de plume—from now on and hitherto when you get here in the morning sew yourself into a burrap toga. Elst how can we ever hope to win an "A" for awful penant?"

So what happens if Miss A. complies with our dictum? The men start looking out the window. Miss A. changes her tooth paste, switches to another soap and still she feels that something is wrong that even piano lessons won't help.

KITCHEN ENTERS PLEA OF GUILTY

Sentence Of One To Twenty Years Imposed On Ashville Man

William Kitchen, 55, of Ashville, was sentenced by Judge Charles A. Leach of Franklin county criminal court Friday to serve one to 20 years in the Ohio penitentiary after he pleaded guilty of manslaughter. Kitchen was charged with stabbing to death William Norris Dummitt, also of Ashville, last December 18 after an argument.

Kitchen had gone on trial before Judge Leach for second degree manslaughter. He had been charged with first degree murder in preliminary hearing, but the Franklin grand jury reduced the charge. The manslaughter plea was accepted following a conference Friday before opening of court.

Testimony brought out in Thursday's hearing showed that Kitchen had threatened to kill Dummitt.

Raymond Reardon, of Columbus, a C. & O. Railroad conductor, said he was in Babbett's Cafe, Groveport Pike and Parsons avenue and heard Kitchen tell Dummitt "I'm going to kill you before daylight."

COMMITTEE IN HOUSE STUDIES PAY-AS-GO TAX

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19—The house ways and means committee today returned to the consideration of pay-as-you-go taxation after it took time out to stand by its approval of the Disney bill repealing President Roosevelt's $25,000 limit on salaries.

The committee is wading out the various proposals to place the nation's taxpayers on a current basis. Various plans before it range from the Ruml proposal calling for complete forgiveness of 1942 obligations to bring everyone up to date to the original treasury plan calling for complete doubling of 1942 and 1943 taxes this year.

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, Feb. 19 — Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's attack in southern Tunisia appeared to have spent itself for the time being today, and fighting slackened after four days of unrelenting violence.

The British Eighth army, which is counted on to rescue Allied troops driven back to the Algerian hills by the axis offensive in central Tunisia, has opened its assault on the Mareth line.

A Middle East command communiqué today said that Sir Gen. Bernard Law Montgomery's hardened desert fighters had unlimbered their heavy artillery and begun to shell the southern Tunisian fortifications.

Only twenty-four hours before, the vanguard of the Eighth army had occupied positions facing the "Little Maginot Line" from a 25-

NEW YORK, Feb. 19—Russian troops have landed on the Black Sea coast of the northern Caucasus and outflanked the axis forces at Novorossisk, the British radio declared today in a broadcast.

The British report said the axis-held port had been outflanked from the northwest, which would mean that the Soviet landing forces had gone ashore north of Novorossisk and blocked the way to the Kerch peninsula.

Substantial axis forces, remnants of German and Romanian divisions, were believed to be massed at Novorossisk in the hope that they could escape by sea to the Crimea.

CUT SEEN IN MEAT RATIONS FOR CIVILIANS

One And Three-Fourths Pounds Or Less Per Week Likely

ALLOTMENT UNDECIDED

Choice Steak Eaters May Experience Trouble Under Program

While Pickaway county War Price and Rationing officials awaited information concerning meat rationing which is expected to start about April 1, federal OPA sources said Friday that the per capita meat allowance for civilians under rationing may be one and three-fourths pounds or less each week.

No information concerning the meat program has been sent to local rationers except the fact that War Ration Book No. 2, which will be distributed next week from the various high school buildings, will be used. Red stamps in Book No. 2 will be for meat with blue stamps to be used for canned fruits and vegetables starting March 1.

Expanding military and lend-lease requirements may result in the reduction in civilian meat supplies, it was said.

The two and one-half pounds per week allotment once deemed possible and used as a basis for the government's unsuccessful effort to voluntarily limit the consumption of meat was described as "way in the clouds."

Supply Dwindles

Officials sometime ago began considering the possibility of providing two pounds of meat each week for every civilian consumer, but recently their hopes for achieving even this goal have dwindled away.

"The prospects are for the meat supply situation to become tighter rather than looser," a spokesman said. "The per capita quota may drop to 1 3/4 pounds a week or less."

"I don't think that anyone will know exactly what the per capita allotment is going to be, however, until we get right down to the point of rationing and determine what the supplies are at that moment."

Secretary of Agriculture Wickard said that "the amount of the weekly ration depends on how well we can get hold of meat slaughtering and distribution."

"I hope the ration won't be under two pounds," he said.

The consumer who chooses to spend his ration points for spare-ribs will receive poundage considerably above the 1 3/4 figure, while the person who elects to eat choice steak won't get anything like that amount.

Canned Or Fresh

Canned fish and canned meats also will be rationed under the meat program and consumers will have the choice of spending their "points" for the canned products or for fresh cuts of meat.

Persons who have War Ration Book No. 1 will start registering next Tuesday at 1 p. m. in all high school buildings and in grade buildings where there is no high school located. Schools will be open from 1 p. m. to 6 p. m. Tuesday, Thursday and Friday and from 1 p. m. to 9:30 p. m. on Wednesday.

Persons registering must take a Consumer's Declaration completely filled out with them in addition to all Ration Books No. 1 possessed by the family. One person may register for all members of the family.

No canned foods of any type will be sold next week during registration.

NAVY REJECTION DISAPPOINTING TO CITY PASTOR

The Rev. Neil H. Peterson, pastor of Circleville Methodist church, is one of the city's most disappointed men, but still may obtain some solace from the fact that he did his best to enter Uncle Sam's service.

The minister recently appeared before naval department procurement officers seeking to enlist as a chaplain assigned to naval service.

A former semi-professional baseball player and steel worker, the pastor passed all physical examinations with flying colors and was lauded by naval examiners for his splendid condition.

But, the minister is 55 years of age, five years beyond the top age limit permitted by the navy department for its chaplains.

The Rev. Mr. Peterson was told at the time he took his physical examination that efforts would be made to have the age limitation ruling waived, but Friday he received a letter from the navy procurement department informing him that because of his age he could not be accepted.

The Methodist pastor thought that because of his physical condition and the fact that he once saw service in the national guard that he might still be permitted to enter service.

RELATIVE OF LOCAL WOMEN DIES IN ACTION

Lieutenant Clyde D. Grimes, of Wichita, Kansas, a distant cousin of the Misses Anna and Estella Grimes of East Mound street, was killed January 1 in New Guinea action. Lieutenant Grimes was a post exchange officer in the U. S. army at the time of his death.

Only 31, he was the only son of Mr. and Mrs. George Grimes of Wichita. Other survivors are his widow, Wilma; a daughter, Alice, 3; a son, Roger Vincent Grimes, 10 months, and a sister.

In February, 1934, when a senior at Wichita university he was ranked sixth in the nation in a government aptitude test given to nearly 10,000 seniors. Lieutenant Grimes had two years of medical training before he enlisted in the army.

His widow and children are now residing in Kansas City, Mo.

1943 BUSINESS GAIN INDICATED BY TAX INCOME

Reports of prepaid sales tax receipts from Pickaway county for the week ending February 6 show that 1943's business is ahead of 1942 in this district.

Total for the year through February 6 is $7,475.01, compared with $6,879.33 for the same period a year ago.

During the February 6 week sales amounted to $1,373.72, more than $400 ahead of the $960 sold during the same week in 1942.

Cry of "Bureaucrats" Used as Smoke Screen

By Drew Pearson
WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—What actually is happening back stage in Congress is that Republican reactionaries backed by Harry Byrd, Democrat, are using the cry of "bureaucrats" as a smoke-screen to sabotage some of the major reforms Roosevelt built up during his first eight years.

Best example is the Securities and Exchange Commission. This police organization of Wall street was about the first thing FDR started after the stock market depression days after 1932. Almost universally it has been recognized as a reform which must stick.

But now, behind a smokescreen of attacking bureaucrats, congressional reactionaries have quietly moved in and cut SEC appropriations to the bone. Already the Securities and Exchange Commission has been exiled to Philadelphia, and now, away from the Washington spotlight, it will be whittled down to 1932 days if GOP reactionaries have their way.

Note: Meanwhile the State Department still hopes to persuade the Canadian Government to ratify the extradition treaty permitting swindlers of America who take refuge in Canada to be extradited to this country. The Senate has okayed extradition of stock market operators swindling Canadian citizens but so far the Canadian Parliament hasn't reciprocated.

DOUGHTON'S DOUGHTY FIGHT

Venerable Bob Doughton, North Carolina's longtime chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, sees red when it comes to the Ruml Plan.

Ex-Undersecretary of the Treasury John Hanes, also from North Carolina, and U. S. Chamber of Commerce tax lobbyist Ellsworth Alvord have been nipping doggedly at Doughton's heels trying to win him over to Ruml. But a religious fervor comes into Doughton's eyes when he fights tax postponement.

"If you press me on this," Doughton tells Hanes and Alvord, "you'll never get any more help from me on other taxes."

Doughton believes that taxes have to be paid, one way or the other, and that talk of forgiving one year's taxes is nothing less than sacrilegious.

The few members of the Ways and Means Committee who are for the Ruml plan have been arguing to their colleagues about the danger of "doubling" — in other words paying two year's taxes in one.

But FDR has asked for 16 billion dollars in taxes this year, most of which will have to come from individuals. Since 1942 income taxes will come to about 13 billion, that means only 3 billion more to make up FDR's 16 billion.

Enemies of the Ruml plan argue therefore, that if you forgive 1942 taxes, namely 13 billion, you just have to turn around and raise 16 billion plus 13 billion in 1943. So what difference does it make, they say, which pocket you take your taxes out of as long as the income brackets each year remain about the same.

CAPITAL CHAFF

When Post Master General Frank Walker was shown a recent news photo of himself, he said, "Is that Herbert Hoover or me?" ... FDR has a panel of three photos of himself, showing him in three successive stages of eating a hot dog. ... WPA's Conservation Division has collected 400,000 pounds of silk and nylon stockings for use in making powder bags and parachutes. ... In addition to charting new strategy, reason for sending Lt. General Hap Arnold to Chungking was to let him see the "air show" in China and sell him on more support. Everyone who goes there comes away wanting to send more aid to support — if Willkie and Clare Luce are any criterion. ... Already the Tariff Commission is studying the question of a tariff on rubber to protect the new synthetic rubber factories from Malay rubber after we win the war. In other words, we're fighting to win back the Dutch East Indies, but will bar the stuff after we succeed.

DANIELS THE PROPHET

Spy 80-year-old Josephus Daniels, who did more to build up the Navy than any man except Franklin Roosevelt, said some prophetic things years before this war. After serving as Secretary of the Navy during all of Woodrow Wilson's Administration, Daniels made a speech at Jacksonville where he defended General Billy Mitchell, at that time crucified for prophesying the importance of air power.

"Mitchell," said Daniels, "was sincere in his desire to promote aviation, and perhaps had hit no harder than was necessary to wake up the country."

When you consider that Daniels had been surrounded with battleship admirals, and that General Douglas MacArthur was on the court-martial which punished Mitchell, those words, spoken in 1926 were prophetic heresy.

Daniels added further advice, which would help the country today.

"The real need in preparedness," said the ex-secretary of the Navy, "is to abolish the offices of Secretary of War and Secretary of the Navy, and substitute a Secretary of National Defense with sub-secretaries in charge of each department.

"That would synchronize defense operations under one head and would have the advantage of preventing a great deal of duplication and inefficiency which prevails under the present system of division between the Army and Navy."

MERRY-GO-ROUND

Munro Leaf, who wrote Ferdinand and the Bull, hailed as a children's classic on pacifism, has now got himself a captain's commission in the army, and is more belligerent than any West Pointer. He even believes that it is sacrilegious to criticize anyone in the army, or anything the army does — especially the Services of Supply, to which he is detailed. ... Congress probably will pass a quick temporary tax provision requiring 20 percent of all income to be collected for taxes at the source. Then the permanent tax bill, passed more leisurely, will provide the exact amounts to be paid. ... Justice Byrnes, British Supply Chief Lewellyn and the Russian Ambassador all spoke impressively at the dinner of American Society of Newspaper Editors. But chief recollection the editors took home was the wife of the Fighting French representative serenely smoking a long black cigar in public.

MILK BONUSES

Eastern dairy farmers who have been putting pressure on the Agriculture Department don't take too kindly to the proposed incentive payments to dairymen for increased milk production.

Payments would be based on production of the last three years and a sliding scale of bonuses would be paid to farmers increasing their milk yield above a fixed figure — probably a bit below their three-year average.

Instead, dairymen argue that the consumer can afford to pay higher prices and should do so. Higher prices, they say, is the best way to get more milk. Price stabilization officials, however argue that once the price of milk is increased, the props will be knocked right from under them when it comes to opposing John L. Lewis and his demand for increased wages in the coal fields.

Note: Government plans for getting more farm labor include importation of more Mexican workers, movement of migratory workers, recruiting of high school boys and girls, the establishment of labor camps and the establishment of a women's army.

CUT SEEN IN MEAT RATIONS FOR CIVILIANS

One And Three-Fourths Pounds Or Less Per Week Likely

ALLOTMENT UNDECIDED

Choice Steak Eaters May Experience Trouble Under Program

While Pickaway county War Price and Rationing officials awaited information concerning meat rationing which is expected to start about April 1, federal OPA sources said Friday that the per capita meat allowance for civilians under rationing may be one and three-fourths pounds or less each week.

No information concerning the meat program has been sent to local rationers except the fact that War Ration Book No. 2, which will be distributed next week from the various high school buildings, will be used. Red stamps in Book No. 2 will be for meat with blue stamps to be used for canned fruits and vegetables starting March 1.

Expanding military and lend-lease requirements may result in the reduction in civilian meat supplies, it was said.

The two and one-half pounds per week allotment once deemed possible and used as a basis for the government's unsuccessful effort to voluntarily limit the consumption of meat was described as "way in the clouds."

Supply Dwindles
Officials sometime ago began considering the possibility of providing two pounds of meat each week for every civilian consumer, but recently their hopes for achieving even this goal have dwindled away.

"The prospects are for the meat supply situation to become tighter rather than looser," a spokesman said. "The per capita quota may drop to 1 1/4 pounds a week or less."

"I don't think that anyone will know exactly what the per capita allotment is going to be, however, until we get right down to the point of rationing and determine what the supplies are at that moment."

Secretary of Agriculture Wickard said that "the amount of the weekly ration depends on how well we can get hold of meat slaughtering and distribution."

"I hope the ration won't be under two pounds," he said.

The consumer who chooses to spend his ration points for spare-ribs will receive poundage considerably above the 1 1/4 figure, while the person who elects to eat choice steak won't get anything like that amount.

Canned Or Fresh
Canned fish and canned meats also will be rationed under the meat program and consumers will have the choice of spending their "points" for the canned products or for fresh cuts of meat.

Persons who have War Ration Book No. 1 will start registering next Tuesday at 1 p. m. in all high school buildings and in grade buildings where there is no high school located. Schools will be open from 1 p. m. to 6 p. m. Tuesday, Thursday and Friday and from 1 p. m. to 9:30 p. m. on Wednesday.

Persons registering must take a Consumer's Declaration completely filled out with them in addition to all Ration Books No. 1 possessed by the family. One person may register for all members of the family.

No canned foods of any type will be sold next week during registration.

NAVY REJECTION DISAPPOINTING TO CITY PASTOR

The Rev. Neil H. Peterson, pastor of Circleville Methodist church, is one of the city's most disappointed men, but still may obtain some solace from the fact that he did his best to enter Uncle Sam's service.

The minister recently appeared before naval department procurement officers seeking to enlist as a chaplain assigned to naval service.

A former semi-professional baseball player and steel worker, the pastor passed all physical examinations with flying colors and was lauded by naval examiners for his splendid condition.

But, the minister is 55 years of age, five years beyond the top age limit permitted by the navy department for its chaplains.

The Rev. Mr. Peterson was told at the time he took his physical examination that efforts would be made to have the age limitation ruling waived, but Friday he received a letter from the navy procurement department informing him that because of his age he could not be accepted.

The Methodist pastor thought that because of his physical condition and the fact that he once saw service in the national guard that he might still be permitted to enter service.

RELATIVE OF LOCAL WOMEN DIES IN ACTION

Lieutenant Clyde D. Grimes, of Wichita, Kansas, a distant cousin of the Misses Anna and Estella Grimes of East Mound street, was killed January 1 in New Guinea action. Lieutenant Grimes was a post exchange officer in the U. S. army at the time of his death.

Only 31, he was the only son of Mr. and Mrs. George Grimes of Wichita. Other survivors are his widow, Wilma; a daughter, Alice, 3; a son, Roger Vincent Grimes, 10 months, and a sister.

In February, 1934, when a senior at Wichita university he was ranked sixth in the nation in a government aptitude test given to nearly 10,000 students. Lieutenant Grimes had two years of medical training before he enlisted in the army.

His widow and children are now residing in Kansas City, Mo.

1943 BUSINESS GAIN INDICATED BY TAX INCOME

Reports of prepaid sales tax receipts from Pickaway county for the week ending February 6 show that 1943's business is ahead of 1942 in this district.

Total for the year through February 6 is $7,475.01, compared with $6,879.33 for the same period a year ago.

During the February 6 week sales amounted to $1,373.72, more than $400 ahead of the $960 sold during the same week in 1942.

Other south central Ohio counties' reports for 1942 and 1943 include:

Cry of "Bureaucrats" Used as Smoke Screen

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—What actually is happening back stage in Congress is that Republican reactionaries backed by Harry Byrd, Democrat, are using the cry of "bureaucrats" as a smoke-screen to sabotage some of the major reforms Roosevelt built up during his first eight years.

Best example is the Securities and Exchange Commission. This police organization of Wall street was about the first thing FDR started after the stock market depression days after 1932. Almost universally it has been recognized as a reform which must stick.

But now, behind a smokescreen of attacking bureaucrats, congressional reactionaries have quietly moved in and cut SEC appropriations to the bone. Already the Securities and Exchange Commission has been exiled to Philadelphia, and now, away from the Washington spot light, it will be whittled down to 1932 days if GOP reactionaries have their way.

Note: Meanwhile the State Department still hopes to persuade the Canadian Government to ratify the extradition treaty permitting swindlers of America who take refuge in Canada to be extradited to this country. The Senate has okayed extradition of stock market operators swindling Canadian citizens but so far the Canadian Parliament hasn't reciprocated.

When Post Master General Frank Walker was shown a recent news photo of himself, he said, "Is that Herbert Hoover or me?" ... FDR has a panel of three photos of himself, showing him in three successive stages of eating a hot dog ... WPB's Conservation Division has collected 400,000 pounds of silk and nylon stockings for use in making powder bags and parachutes ... In addition to charting new strategy, reason for sending Lt. General Hap Arnold to Chungking was to let him see the "air show" in China and sell him on more support. Everyone who goes there comes away wanting to send more aid to support—if Willkie and Clare Luce are any criterion ... Already the Tariff Commission is studying the question of a tariff on rubber to protect the new synthetic rubber factories from Malay rubber after we win the war. In other words, we're fighting to win back the Dutch East Indies, but will bar the stuff after we succeed.

ton's eyes when he fights tax postponement.
"If you press me on this," Doughton tells Hanes and Alvord, "you'll never get any more help from me on other taxes."
Doughton believes that taxes have to be paid, one way or the other, and that talk of forgiving one year's taxes is nothing less than sacrilegious.
The few members of the Ways and Means Committee who are for the Ruml plan have been arguing to their colleagues about the danger of "doubling" — in other words paying two year's taxes in one.

But FDR has asked for 16 billion dollars more in taxes this year, most of which will have to come from individuals. Since 1942 income taxes will come to about 13 billion, that means only 3 billion more to make up FDR's 16 billion. Enemies of the Ruml plan argue therefore, that if you forgive 1942 taxes, namely 13 billion, you just have to turn around and raise 16 billion plus 13 billion in 1943. So what difference does it make, they say, which pocket you take your taxes out of as long as the income brackets each year remain about the same.

DANIELS THE PROPHET

Spry 80-year-old Josephus Daniels, who did more to build up the Navy than any man except Franklin Roosevelt, said some prophetic things years before this war. After serving as Secretary of the Navy during all of Woodrow Wilson's Administration, Daniels made a speech at Jacksonville where he defended General Billy Mitchell, at that time crucified for prophesying the importance of air power.

"Mitchell," said Daniels, "was sincere in his desire to promote aviation, and perhaps had hit no harder than was necessary to wake up the country."

When you consider that Daniels had been surrounded with battle-ship admirals, and that General Douglas MacArthur was on the court-martial which punished Mitchell, those words, spoken in 1926 were prophetic heresy.

Daniels added further advice, which would help the country today.

"The real need in preparedness," said the ex-secretary of the Navy, "is to abolish the offices of Secretary of War and Secretary of the Navy, and substitute a Secretary of National Defense with sub-secretaries in charge of each department.

"That would synchronize defense operations under one head and would have the advantage of preventing a great deal of duplication and inefficiency which prevails under the present system of division between the Army and Navy."

MERRY-GO-ROUND

Munro Leaf, who wrote Ferdinand and the Bull, hailed as a children's classic on pacifism, has now got himself a captain's commission in the army, and is more belligerent than any West Pointer. He even believes that it is sacrilegious to criticize anyone in the army, or anything the army does — especially the Services of Supply, to which he is detailed ... Congress probably will pass a quick temporary tax provision requiring 20 percent of all income to be collected for taxes at the source. Then the permanent tax bill, passed more leisurely, will provide the exact amounts to be paid. ... Justice Byrnes, British Supply Chief Lewellyn and the Russian Ambassador all spoke impressively at the dinner of American Society of Newspaper Editors. But chief recollection the editors took home was the wife of the Fighting French representative serenely smoking a long black cigar in public.

Eastern dairy farmers who have been putting pressure on the Agriculture Department don't take too kindly to the proposed incentive payments to dairymen for increased milk production.

Payments would be based on production of the last three years and a sliding scale of bonuses would be paid to farmers increasing their milk yield above a fixed figure — probably a bit below their three-year average.

Instead, dairymen argue that the consumer can afford to pay higher prices and should do so. Higher prices, they say, is the best way to get more milk. Price stabilization officials, however argue that once the price of milk is increased, the props will be knocked right from under them when it comes to opposing John L. Lewis and his demand for increased wages in the coal fields.

Note: Government plans for getting more farm labor include importation of more Mexican workers, movement of migratory workers, recruiting of high school boys and girls, the establishment of labor camps and the establishment of a women's army.

Dummitt struck Kitchen, then Kitchen struck back, the witness said.

When Dummitt started to run, they got back in the car and went on without him, Scarberry said.

Coercion Charged

"These coercions are more drastic than the penalty clauses in the proposed Austin-Wadsworth bill. They are administered without chance of trial or defense. Under our bill no penalty may be imposed without trial in court—which is the true American way of establishing guilt and imposing punishment or clearing the accused entirely."

Austin said "I believe our people prefer a government policy expressly declared by the representatives of the people to a policy established by bureaus and enforced by indirect sanctions."

"The policy of legislation is in accord with our traditional as well as constitutional way of life," he said. "The policy of operating under orders is new, unusual and naturally excites doubt and even resistance."

Showdown Looms

An early showdown in the congressional battle over limiting the army, assuring enough workers to raise food and deferment of fathers from the draft is expected.

One group of senators, it was learned, considered a plan of embodying the congressional opposition to draft and army policies in a letter to the President.

Selective Service officials declared that both the Bankhead and Kilday bills would disrupt plans for induction of 12,000 men a day into the armed services to build up total forces of 11,000,000.

While congress enacted the Tydings amendment directing deferment of farm workers who cannot be replaced, the Bankhead deferment is far more sweeping and undoubtedly would result in a heavier draft of city people, officials said.

Should both measures become law, officials said, the whole draft picture will change, and it might be difficult to provide the men sought for the army, navy and marine corps.

12 PLANE CRASH DEATHS DUE TO FIRE IN ENGINE

SEATTLE, Wash., Feb. 19.—Fire that developed in one engine of a four-motored Flying Fortress during a test flight was blamed today by Boeing aircraft officials for the crash of the huge craft into Seattle packing plant yesterday in which 12 persons were killed.

All 11 members of the plane's crew, including Edmund T. Allen, famed Boeing test pilot, lost their lives in the crash, and one plant employee was known to have perished in the flames that followed as the bomber's fuel tanks exploded and spread destruction throughout the building.

Thirteen persons, including firemen and plant employees, were injured by the blaze.

Witnesses said the plane, its two port motors dead and trailing smoke, was attempting to reach the Boeing field for a crash landing when it struck power lines and then smashed into the plant slaughter house.

Four crew members attempted to parachute from the stricken plane, but the craft was too low and there was not time for their chutes to open.

"LAME DUCK" APPOINTMENTS DRAW CRITICISM

CRITICISM by Senator Homer L. Ferguson (R.) of Michigan of "party politics," which, he declares, is keeping defeated congressmen in the government through appointments to various posts may arouse more widespread criticism from congressmen. Among the appointees included in Senator Ferguson's classification are former Senator H. H. Schwartz of Wyoming, nominated for the National Mediation Board; former Senator William H. Smathers of New Jersey, reportedly under consideration for a political post; former Senator Clyde Herring of Iowa, who may get an OPA post; former Senator Wall Doney of Mississippi, appointed sergeant-at-arms of the senate; former Senator Josh Lee of Oklahoma, member of the Civil Aeronautics Board; former Representative Raymond McKeough of Illinois, OPA regional director in Chicago; Charles Poletti, defeated for re-election as lieutenant governor of New York, named as assistant to the secretary of war; former Representative Thomas Eliot of Massachusetts, representing the OWI in London.

basic silhouette shown in the collection, with the exception of flounces and shoulder length capes.

Flounces, placed low on evening skirts make for easy walking in these days of strict gasoline rationing. The skirt from the waist to below the knees followed the pencil slim silhouette, however.

The slim silhouette was varied by front pleats falling from the belt, to flatter not-too-perfect figures.

Shoulder capes were used to make another ensemble of a basic black dress. They were designed with two long tabs to cross in the front and tucked under the belt.

Ginghams, made of plentiful cotton, emerged in glamorous roles. A dress of red checked gingham had a simple, short matching jacket. When the jacket was removed however, the dress top was revealed as trimmed with multi-colored spangles and the dress featured the halter back. Gingham checks of all types were dressed up with spangles to become afternoon dresses for restaurant, theatre and concert wear.

Accessories of all types, to change a basic dress into many different ensembles, were featured. The dresses were made of year-round fabrics in many instances.

Lines were conservative and practical, yet flattering and feminine to form a contrast to the world of uniforms.

SELECTIVE SERVICE UNIT AT DISTRICT CONFERENCE

Pickaway county Selective Service officials attended a conference at the Neil house, Columbus, Thursday evening during which various problems were discussed with advice given on establishing replacement schedules in major industries. Other topics were viewed with the need for manpower on the farm and in defense industries discussed.

Attending the meeting were Durward Dowden, Earl A. Smith, Dr. J. L. Spindler and Jay Clark of the draft board; T. O. Gilliland and Robert D. Musser of the advisory board; Dr. Lloyd Jones of the medical board, and Mrs. Jones, and the office personnel, including the Misses Ruth Morfitt, Thelma Winner and Jane Paul.

Participating in the discussion were Colonel Chester Goble, Selective Service chief; Lieut. Lester Burbridge, Col. Furman Spencer, Lt. Col. Carl Wahl and Major Perry.

Joseph A. Padway, general counsel of the AFL and the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, who also wishes to be heard by the Rules Committee, contends the Hobbs bill "delimits labor's peaceful and ordinary activities."

Sabath, outlining his views on the Hobbs measure, added: "We should not rock the boat. Everyone is of the opinion that labor is doing all it can to help. If there was a real situation existing now that in anyway affected interstate shipments, I'd say yes. But it doesn't now exist."

SIX MORE LOCAL MEN ACCEPTED FOR WAR DUTY

Acceptance list of Pickaway county draftees from the first of three February contingents was boosted six to a total of 54 Friday in the official list received by the Selective Service office from the army medical board in Columbus.

Forty-eight youths returned Wednesday night for seven day furloughs, but an additional six have been taken for duty. Of the total of 54 only three were designated for service in the navy. They are Victor Leroy Curry and Vernon Albert Puckett of Ashville and Tommy Jean Martin of Williamsport. Their names were added to the list of 48 previously announced as accepted.

Others taken and not previously announced were Carl William Tracy of Circleville, Charles Donald Hastings of Williamsport and Robert Edward Showe of Columbus.

Two others, James Moorehead and Charles E. (Ted) Moon of Circleville, were held over.

Rejected men totaled 13 including George Skaggs, Donald Jenkins, Haston Conley, Arthur S. Rooney, Thomas F. Brunner and Merle A. Brink of Circleville; Tracy E. Bauman of Orient; Harley A. West, Jr., and Maurice E. Murray of Ashville; Paul T. Davis and Joe F. Asher of New Holland; Harry G. Clifton of Lancaster and Frank Eugene Smith of Dayton.

Another contingent comprised of 25 youths is scheduled to leave Circleville Saturday for the induction center. Another of 25 will leave early next week. Francis L. Warner of Williamsport has been named leader of the Saturday contingent.

NEW RULES FOR BRIDGE PROVIDE SCORING CHANGE

NEW YORK, Feb. 19—New rules for contract bridge, embodying only minor changes, were announced today with publication of a 1943 code of bridge laws by the Whist Club of New York and the American contract Bridge League.

The revisions are the first since 1935 and chief interest centered in a scoring change that gives a fifty point bonus to the side making a doubled or re-doubled contract whether vulnerable or not. The other scoring change announced was a 50-point bonus to be given for having a part score in an unfinished game of an unfinished rubber.

The rule governing the lead-out-of-turn penalty was changed so that declarer may either call the lead of any suit he wishes or forbid the lead of any suit. This change was made because in some cases it is actually to the disadvantage of the declarer to be forced to call a lead.

The penalty for revoking remains at two tricks, but in the new laws there is no additional penalty when the same player revokes a second time in the same suit. It cost the offender an extra trick under the old laws for every additional revoke.

The new rules will go into effect April 1 and are more liberal in some respects than the 1935 code. For example if a player makes an improper bid, due to a slip of the tongue, he may correct himself without penalty. The 1943 rules also recognize officially the use of the word "dummy" who in the previous bridge codes was termed "declarer's partner."

CURTIS-WRIGHT PROBE REVEALS DELAY REASONS

COLUMBUS, Feb. 19—Failure of sub-contractors to deliver sub-assemblies, and too-rapid turnover of manpower, were seen today as principal causes for the failure of the sprawling Curtiss-Wright Navy Airplane plant at Port Columbus to produce dive-bombers on schedule.

Following a two-hour tour of the Mammoth factory, the Senate War Investigating Committee headed by Sen. Harry S. Truman, (D-Missouri) reported to newsmen that the plant was filling its quotas on "Seagull" scout-observation ships, but that production on the other navy plane being produced, the "Hell-Diver" dive bomber, was disappointing.

"This plant has not met its production schedules on dive bombers since it began operations," said Sen. Truman.

"We can make no statement as to who is at fault until we complete our investigation. We will hold hearings in Washington in two or three weeks. When we reach a decision, we won't pull our punches."

Truman said that the plant would not reach peak production on dive bombers until December, but that "it wasn't expected before then."

ABNER HANKINS DIES IN YELLOWBUD HOME

Abner Thurman Hankins, a widely known farmer of North Union township, Ross county, died Friday at 12:20 a. m. at his home. He was the father of Mrs. Frank Davis, formerly of Circleville, who is now living on the Hankins farm.

Born in Ross county, December 11, 1864, he was the son of Orville and Sarah Hill Hankins. He married Flora Layton on September 6, 1888 who survives with the one daughter, Mrs. Davis. He also leaves one sister, Lillian Hankins, of Green Grove Springs, Fla.; two grandchildren, Mrs. Richard Melson and Frank Davis Jr.

Funeral services will be at Springfield church Sunday at 2:30 p. m. with the Rev. S. C. Elise officiating. Burial in charge of C. E. Hill of Williamsport will be in Springfield cemetery.

Flank bearers include Gilbert, Forrest and Harold Harnout, Chauncey Butler, Paul Hankins and Robert Meinfelter.

FUGITIVES FROM ROSS CHILD HOME RETURNED

Four boys ranging in age from 14 to 17 were taken into custody at 10:30 p. m. Thursday by the sheriff's office on Route 22 near the home of John Dunlap, Jr. The youths were fugitives from the Ross county children's home, Sheriff Charles Radcliff said. Ross county officials came to Circleville Friday to return the boys.

The only ground action reported was a German tank assault on positions held by French units 20 miles southwest of Pichon. The French communiqué said the attack was repulsed.

French Optimistic

French General Alphonse Juin declared that Rommel's attack was spent itself, and that he now faces supply problems over inferior roads—a disadvantage which was in part responsible for the Allied defeat.

Allied torpedo planes sunk an enemy supply ship off the Mediterranean island of Sicily Wednesday night, while another allied air squadron attacked rail installations.

WITH ALLIED FORCES IN SOUTHERN TUNISIA, Feb. 19

"We have had our noses bloodied a little."

"That's all."

"We'll be tougher from here on."

It was an American officer speaking on the Tunisian battlefield today—an officer who went through the novel and difficult experience of fighting against Nazi Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's seasoned tank divisions.

He and all others now quartered on a new line in the mountains stoutly refuse to take an unduly pessimistic or even a really grave view of the present situation.

They look upon Rommel's initially successful attack as a maneuver to gain high ground and "elbow room" for the sole purpose of making more difficult and more costly the all-out allied offensive he realizes is sure to come.

RAF bombers carried out a heavy attack on the north German port of Wilhelmshaven during the night, the air ministry announced today.

British bombers were over the Nazi submarine base and construction center in good weather.

It was admitted that four of the RAF planes failed to return to their bases.

The German plight in Russia was revealed in today's mid-day Soviet communiqué which declared that the enemy was now using policemen to fill the ranks of its decimated divisions.

Prisoners taken in the rout of the 403rd "German security division" west of Rostov said their replacements included policemen, the communiqué said.

The Red armies surged ahead on the front from Orel to Novorossisk in the western Caucasus. Soviet columns were within 30 miles of Orel, the last Nazi stronghold on the south Russia defense line, and were closing in on Novorossisk, Black Sea port where remnants of axis divisions in the Caucasus were massing for an attempt to escape by sea to the Crimea.

Another Soviet force captured the rail town of Matveyev-Kurgan, 25 miles north of Taganrog in the area west of Rostov. This cut the Taganrog-Stalino line and put axis troops in the Donets Basin in jeopardy.

Other Russian columns narrowed the pocket north and northeast of Rostov and liberated 60 villages in advances west of Novo-Shakhtinsk.

In the southwest Pacific Allied bombers attacked eight Japanese bases from the Solomons to Dutch Timor. Two enemy supply ships were damaged off New Britain island, and near misses were believed to have disabled an enemy destroyer near Dili, on Timor.

Catalina patrol bombers raided Buln, in the northern Solomons, in a two-hour attack and did heavy damage to this air and sea base, leaving fires that were seen 50 miles away.

KINGSTON FIRE WRECKS HOME OF ADRIAN MCVEY

Fire Thursday at 5:30 p. m. wrecked the home of Mr. and Mrs. Adrian McVey, Eastern avenue, Kingston, destroying much new furniture. Both Mr. and Mrs. McVey, former residents of Williamsport, were away from home at the time. Mr. McVey operates the Kingston Kroger store. Mrs. McVey was at the National Fireworks plant where she is employed.

The fire was discovered by Nellie Lou Rott of Kingston. Firemen of Kingston and Chillicothe said they believed flames were started by an overheated furnace. Front of the residence was badly damaged and the interior was swept by flames. Furniture which was not damaged by fire was water-soaked.

Coercion Charged

"These coercions are more drastic than the penalty clauses in the proposed Austin-Wadsworth bill. They are administered without chance of trial or defense. Under our bill no penalty may be imposed without trial in court—which is the true American way of establishing guilt and imposing punishment or clearing the accused entirely."

Austin said "I believe our people prefer a government policy expressly declared by the representatives of the people to a policy established by bureaus and enforced by indirect sanctions."

"The policy of legislation is in accord with our traditional as well as constitutional way of life," he said. "The policy of operating under orders is new, unusual and naturally excites doubt and even resistance."

BOOTLESS FIREMEN

NEW YORK—Members of the New York Fire Department's Emergency Auxiliary Corps will have to be content with galoshes instead of rubber boots when they ride fire apparatus as part of their post-graduate training. The Fire Department recently ruled that because of the rubber shortage only regular members of the department will have regulation or hip boots.

AIDS SCRAP DRIVE

LONDON—The Church of England is cooperating in the nationwide drive for scrap metal. In past months railing from churches, chapels, and graveyards throughout Britain have yielded nearly ten thousand tons of pig iron. In London alone 571 churches gave up nearly 3,000 tons.

Joseph A. Padway, general counsel of the AFL and the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, who also wishes to be heard by the Rules Committee, contends the Hobbs bill "delimits labor's peaceful and ordinary activities."

Sabath, outlining his views on the Hobbs measure, said: "We should not rock the boat. Everyone is of the opinion that labor is doing all it can to help. If there was a real situation existing now that in anyway affected interstate shipments, I'd say yes. But it doesn't now exist."

SIX MORE LOCAL MEN ACCEPTED FOR WAR DUTY

Acceptance list of Pickaway county draftees from the first of three February contingents was boosted six to a total of 54 Friday in the official list received by the Selective Service office from the army medical board in Columbus.

Forty-eight youths returned Wednesday night for seven day furloughs, but an additional six have been taken for duty. Of the total of 54 only three were designated for service in the navy. They are Victor Leroy Curry and Vernon Albert Puckett of Ashville and Tommy Jean Martin of Williamsport. Their names were added to the list of 48 previously announced as accepted.

Others taken and not previously announced were Carl William Tracy of Circleville, Charles Donald Hastings of Williamsport and Robert Edward Showe of Columbus.

Two others, James Moorehead and Charles E. (Ted) Moon of Circleville, were held over.

Rejected men totaled 13 including George Skaggs, Donald Jenkins, Hoston Conley, Arthur S. Rooney, Thomas F. Brunner and Merle A. Brink of Circleville; Tracy E. Bauman of Orient; Harley A. West, Jr., and Maurice E. Murray of Ashville; Paul T. Davis and Joe F. Asher of New Holland; Harry G. Clifton of Lancaster and Frank Eugene Smith of Dayton.

Another contingent comprised of 25 youths is scheduled to leave Circleville Saturday for the induction center. Another of 25 will leave early next week. Francis L. Warner of Williamsport has been named leader of the Saturday contingent.

SELLS CAR, BUYS BONDS

FORT EUSTIS, Va.—With gasoline being rationed and tires almost impossible to obtain, Sgt. Walter E. Bonnor had little use for his automobile, so he sold it to the first buyer for $1,100. A few moments later he walked to the Fort Eustis Post Office and purchased War Bonds. His home is in Preston, Md.

NEW RULES FOR BRIDGE PROVIDE SCORING CHANGE

NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—New rules for contract bridge, embodying only minor changes, were announced today with publication of a 1943 code of bridge laws by the Whist Club of New York and the American contract Bridge League.

The revisions are the first since 1935 and chief interest centered in a scoring change that gives a fifty point bonus to the side making a doubled or re-doubled contract whether vulnerable or not. The other scoring change announced was a 50-point bonus to be given for having a part score in an unfinished game of an unfinished rubber.

The rule governing the lead-out-of-turn penalty was changed so that declarer may either call the lead of any suit he wishes or forbid the lead of any suit. This change was made because in some cases it is actually to the disadvantage of the declarer to be forced to call a lead.

The penalty for revoking remains at two tricks, but in the new laws there is no additional penalty when the same player revokes a second time in the same suit. It cost the offender an extra trick under the old laws for every additional revoke.

The new rules will go into effect April 1 and are more liberal in some respects than the 1935 code. For example if a player makes an improper bid, due to a slip of the tongue, he may correct himself without penalty. The 1943 rules also recognize officially the use of the word "dummy" who in the previous bridge codes was termed "declarer's partner."

CURTISS-WRIGHT PROBE REVEALS DELAY REASONS

COLUMBUS, Feb. 19.—Failure of sub-contractors to deliver sub-assemblies, and too-rapid turnover of manpower, were seen today as principal causes for the failure of the sprawling Curtiss-Wright Navy Airplane plant at Port Columbus to produce dive-bombers on schedule.

Following a two-hour tour of the Mammoth factory, the Senate War Investigating Committee, headed by Sen. Harry S. Truman, (D-Missouri) reported to newsmen that the plant was filling its quotas on "Seagull" scout-observation ships, but that production on the other navy plane being produced, the "Hell-Diver" dive bomber, was disappointing.

"This plant has not met its production schedules on dive bombers since it began operations," said Sen. Truman.

"We can make no statement as to who is at fault until we complete our investigation. We will hold hearings in Washington in two or three weeks. When we reach a decision, we won't pull our punches."

Truman said that the plant would not reach peak production on dive bombers until December, but that "it wasn't expected before then."

ABNER HANKINS DIES IN YELLOWBUD HOME

Abner Thurman Hankins, a widely known farmer of North Union township, Ross county, died Friday at 12:20 a. m. at his home. He was the father of Mrs. Frank Davis, formerly of Circleville, who is now living on the Hankins farm. Born in Ross county, December 11, 1864, he was the son of Orville and Sarah Hill Hankins. He married Flora Layton on September 6, 1888 who survives with the one daughter, Mrs. Davis. He also leaves one sister, Lillian Hankins, of Green Grove Springs, Fla.; two grandchildren, Mrs. Richard Melson and Frank Davis Jr.

Funeral services will be at Springbank church Sunday at 2:30 p. m. with the Rev. S. C. Elisea officiating. Burial in charge of C. E. Hill of Williamsport will be in Springbank cemetery.

Pall bearers include Gilbert, Forrest and Harold Harmount, Chauncey Butler, Paul Hankins and Robert Meinfelter.

FUGITIVES FROM ROSS CHILD HOME RETURNED

Four boys ranging in age from 14 to 17 were taken into custody at 10:30 p. m. Thursday by the sheriff's office on Route 22 near the home of John Dunlap, Jr. The youths were fugitives from the Ross county children's home, Sheriff Charles Radcliff said. Ross county officials came to Circleville Friday to return the boys.

DIVORCE SOUGHT

Harry Starkey of Columbus, former resident of Circleville, filed divorce action Friday in common pleas court Friday against Anna Louise Starkey. He charges neglect of duty. The Starkeys were married in Greenup, Ky., in December, 1930, and have one son, who is four years old.

The only ground action reported was a German tank assault on positions held by French units 20 miles southwest of Pichon. The French communiqué said the attack was repulsed.

French Optimistic

French General Alphonse Juin declared that Rommel's attack was spent itself, and that he now faces supply problems over inferior roads—a disadvantage which was in part responsible for the Allied defeat.

Allied torpedo planes sunk an enemy supply ship off the Mediterranean island of Sicily Wednesday night, while another allied air squadron attacked rail installations.

WITH ALLIED FORCES IN SOUTHERN TUNISIA, Feb. 19

—We have had our noses bloodied a little. "That's all. "We'll be tougher from here on."

It was an American officer speaking on the Tunisian battlefield today—an officer who went through the novel and difficult experience of fighting against Nazi Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's seasoned tank divisions.

He and all others now quartered on a new line in the mountains stoutly refuse to take an unduly pessimistic or even a really grave view of the present situation.

They look upon Rommel's initially successful attack as a maneuver to gain high ground and "elbow room" for the sole purpose of making more difficult and more costly the all-out allied offensive he realizes is sure to come.

tions and locomotive concentrations in Italy in an area west of Taranto, the Italian naval base on the heel of the boot.

RAF bombers carried out a heavy attack on the north German port of Wilhelmshaven during the night, the air ministry announced today.

British bombers were over the Nazi submarine base and construction center in good weather.

It was admitted that four of the RAF planes failed to return to their bases.

The German plight in Russia was revealed in today's mid-day Soviet communiqué which declared that the enemy was now using policemen to fill the ranks of its decimated divisions.

Prisoners taken in the rout of the 403rd "German security division" west of Rostov said their replacements included policemen, the communiqué said.

The Red armies surged ahead on the front from Orel to Novorossisk in the western Caucasus. Soviet columns were within 30 miles of Orel, the last Nazi stronghold on the south Russia defense line, and were closing in on Novorossisk, Black Sea port where remnants of axis divisions in the Caucasus were massing for an attempt to escape by sea to the Crimea.

Another Soviet force captured the rail town of Matveyev-Kurgan, 25 miles north of Taganrog in the area west of Rostov. This cut the Taganrog-Stalino line and put axis troops in the Donets Basin in jeopardy.

Other Russian columns narrowed the pocket north and northeast of Rostov and liberated 60 villages in advances west of Novo-Shakhtinsk.

In the southwest Pacific Allied bombers attacked eight Japanese bases from the Solomons to Dutch Timor. Two enemy supply ships were damaged off New Britain island, and near misses were believed to have disabled an enemy destroyer near Dili, on Timor.

Catalina patrol bombers raided Buin, in the northern Solomons, in a two-hour attack and did heavy damage to this air and sea base, leaving fires that were seen 50 miles away.

KINGSTON FIRE WRECKS HOME OF ADRIAN McVEY

Fire Thursday at 5:30 p. m. wrecked the home of Mr. and Mrs. Adrian McVey, Eastern avenue, Kingston, destroying much new furniture. Both Mr. and Mrs. McVey, former residents of Williamsport, were away from home at the time. Mr. McVey operates the Kingston Kroger store. Mrs. McVey was at the National Fireworks plant where she is employed.

The fire was discovered by Nellie Lou Routt of Kingston. Firemen of Kingston and Chillicothe said they believed flames were started by an overheated furnace.

Front of the residence was badly damaged and the interior was swept by flames. Furniture which was not damaged by fire was water-soaked.

OPEN LETTERS

TO AMERICANS

FOLK: Next week registration for War Ration Book No. 2 is scheduled throughout the country. I hope that every Circleville and Pickaway county housewife is reading every thing she can read concerning the new point rationing plan. It is to her advantage to know every detail concerning registration and operation of the point system program. Registration will be held in the high school nearest your home at definite hours set up by school administrators. You should appear in your respective school as early as possible in the week. Registration begins at 1 p. m. Tuesday and continues through Friday. Schools will close at 6 p. m. each day except Wednesday when registrants will remain on the job until 9:30 p. m. No person should apply unless he or she has a War Ration Book No. 1, the one used for sugar, coffee shoes. The person who registers for the entire family should take all ration books the family owns. Consumer's Declarations must also be filled out in complete detail. A copy of the Consumer's Declaration was published in Wednesday's Herald; school children have taken mimeographed copies of the declaration to their homes. No Book No. 2 will be issued to persons who do not have their Book No. 1 or to persons who have not filled out the Consumer's Declaration. After registration is completed the freeze on canned goods will be lifted and sale under the point rationing system will be started.

More information will appear from time to time concerning the point ration plan. It is to your advantage to read every article which appears concerning the program. Know what to do when the time comes to do it.

MEN, WOMEN: This is just another reminder that all of you who are physically able should register at Red Cross headquarters, West Main street, as a blood donor. Registration is moving along very well, Red Cross officials announce, but many more persons are needed if the city and county are to reach their quota of 240 persons, 120 of whom will appear each of the two days the Red Cross mobile unit is at the First Methodist church. Complete arrangements are being made for the appearance of the mobile unit; women who will have roles in the work are training themselves for these jobs. The Red Cross wants 240 pints of blood from this city in the two day tour. Importance of early registration cannot be stressed too greatly. Persons signing up will be mailed cards showing them when to report. All will be examined to determine whether they

United Nations post-war control plan growing
Many nations now favor some such idea

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

SENTIMENT for United Nations joint control of the post-war economic world is gaining ground, unquestionably.

English statesmanship is toiling overtime for a preliminary agreement that this country will not be able to get out of, even if a few of our public men do regard it rather coldly when the time comes. A mere handful of them criticize it adversely already, but their number is inconsiderable. Canada has a regular commission in Washington, working for international unanimity.

The Chinese concur. So do the Fighting French.

Duce Mussolini's recent cabinet shakeup implies that Benito is trying to head off Italy from a trend in the same direction.

The Spanish rank and file would go for the idea.

Of the 20 Latin American republics, 19 verge on a desire to join us as states, Argentina being the lone exception. And even the Argentine realists are showing signs of weakening lately. They couldn't afford to go it alone.

Russia, it is true, is a problem. Present-day Russians are a pretty queer people to reckon with.

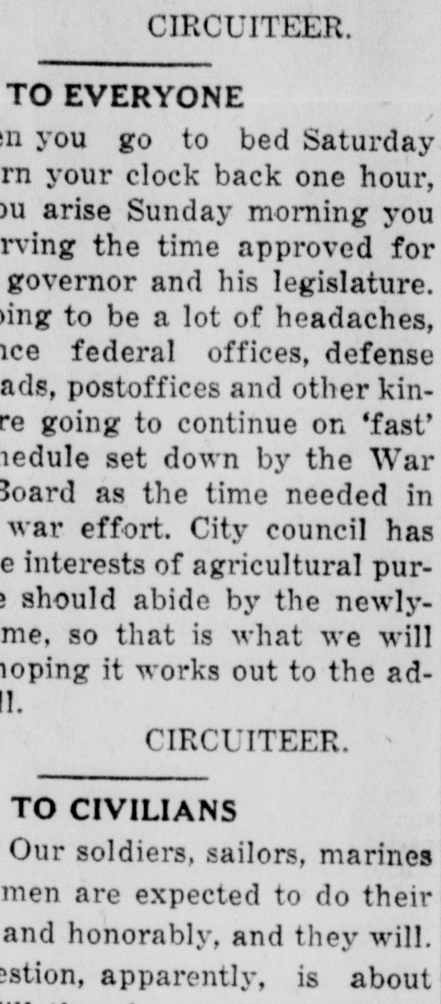

About the only government that shows no post-war economic get-together inclination is Germany. And that can blow up suddenly. Let Adolf Hitler pop and there is no knowing how quickly the rest of the Reich will fall in line. They have done it pretty rapidly before.

If, however, the United Nations do effect an economic combination, will they let the Germans in upon any share of it, no matter how thoroughly licked they may admit themselves to be?

Italy, yes—assuming that Benito is abolished, as he will be. That is a safe bet.

But Germany and Japan? They are not such good gamblers.

DIET AND HEALTH

How Emotions Can Produce Semblance of Heart Disease

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

THE HEART has notably been associated with the emotions. When we ordinarily talk about a man's heart, we are referring not to the physical disturbances which he might have but to his emotional and sympathetic reactions. This means, at least, that the heart can be disturbed by psychologic states and that this will often fool the patient and sometimes the doctor into believing that real organic heart disease is present.

Physicians often speak of a "cardiac neurosis" by which they mean a patient who is so upset about his heart or by the actions of his heart that it is difficult to convince him that no serious heart failure is present. These are very difficult patients to treat because it is by no means easy to convince them of this fact. And indeed sometimes it almost looks as if organic or at least physiologic heart disease could arise from an upset nervous system.

Soldier's Heart

The condition described as "soldier's heart" by Dr. da Costa, of Philadelphia, during the Civil War and which we called neurocirculatory asthenia in World War I, was unquestionably due to the interference of the emotions of fear and apprehension with the normal functioning of the heart rate.

There is a question which certain psychologists have brought up as to whether, in a person who has first an emotional disorder causing functional upset of the heart, such as irregular pulse, with the disturbance continuing for a long time, it isn't possible for structural or organic changes to arise in the heart.

There is still another aspect of the situation and it concerns the situation where a person has actual organic heart disease, such as high blood pressure or angina pectoris. The question arises as to what effect emotional storms have on the course and outcome of his disease.

I have recently been shown examples of two patients who exhibited this relationship. One was a man, 45 years of age, who had for several years had symptoms of emotional upset in the form of depression, irritability and restlessness.

CIRCUITEER.

TO EVERYONE

ALL: When you go to bed Saturday night turn your clock back one hour, and when you arise Sunday morning you will be observing the time approved for Ohio by the governor and his legislature. There are going to be a lot of headaches, especially since federal offices, defense plants, railroads, postoffices and other kindred units are going to continue on 'fast' time, the schedule set down by the War Production Board as the time needed in the nation's war effort. City council has decided in the interests of agricultural pursuits that we should abide by the newly-advocated time, so that is what we will do. Here's hoping it works out to the advantage of all.

CIRCUITEER.

TO CIVILIANS

FRIENDS: Our soldiers, sailors, marines and air men are expected to do their duty cleanly and honorably, and they will. The only question, apparently, is about civilians. Will they be good sportsmen, and show that they have "what it takes," and do their share of the work and the saving and helping and sharing? At the worst, anyway, the people in this fortunate land have, and will continue to have, more to eat and drunk and wear and enjoy than the citizens of any other nation in the world. There is enough of every important thing for everybody and there will continue to be enough, if everyone will follow his conscience and his sporting instincts and not grab and hoard and cheat, for himself or anybody else. And all will be happier that way. There can't be much real satisfaction, anyway, in trying to get the best of friends and neighbors in a time like this. The fellow who cheats will probably find that his conscience hurts him for a long, long time.

CIRCUITEER.

TO MOTORISTS

DRIVERS: Despite gasoline and tire rationing which affect every Pickaway county motorist traffic deaths in the district have already become heavy so far this year. In less than two months' time three persons have met death on Pickaway county roads. If this average continues there will be 18 persons killed this year. Last year only five persons were killed in the entire 12 months. I hope that motorists will cut down their speed to a safe figure so that under all circumstances their cars may be kept under control. Strict adherence to the government's 35-mile-an-hour decree would help to keep the traffic toll at a minimum. Here's hoping.

TO BUSINESS MEN

MERCHANTS: Tonight Circleville Chamber of Commerce conducts its annual meeting, and your presence is of importance to the organization and to yourself. A splendid program has been arranged, a fine dinner will be served, and a review of 1942 activity will be read by the C. of C. secretary. No organization is stronger than the persons who make up its membership. They get out of any organization just what they put into it. Chamber of Commerce officials are hoping to have a record crowd at the meeting, which is open to men and women. I'd like to see you there.

CHAPTER TWENTY-FIVE

"YOU'RE NOT going to be an invalid, be desperately sick, are you?" Jake asked Kay.

"No. Really I'm not." She sighed a little with relief. "I just have to take a sort of sabbatical year."

"What shall we do? Where can we go. Honey, it's going to be awful for you. I'm used to hobnobbing, batting around, considering one room a home." He looked at her hand. It was white, the skin was flawless, the nails freshly manicured. "You have such patrician little hands. I've never seen you use them for anything but signing a check or paying a taxi."

"Pretty useless accomplishments. I think it's going to be fun to harden them, to make them really serve some purpose."

"You may think so now. But you'd hate it. How hard up will we be? We never talk about money. To tell the truth, I don't even ever think about it." He gave her a chagrined smile.

"We'll be quite hard up. The only money I have saved is a few thousand dollars, enough to buy us a little place. We'll have to depend on your income for our living expenses."

She let her fingers dabble in the brook. The sound of the water as it trickled over the stones was soothing. Out here, where it was so still, so peaceful, she felt anything was possible. She wished, though, that she knew just what was going on in Jake's mind. He was thinking hard.

"If you have a few thousand dollars, why wouldn't that tide us over the year, until you are well enough to work again?" he asked. "Buying a place is a terribly final sort of act. I've always hated the idea of being loaded down with possessions. And, darling, we're city folk. We'd better try the country first, see if we can stand it, before we go buying any house."

Kay really felt sorry for him. If she had thought there was any chance of getting him really to work and steady down in New York, she would have given in. But if Jake was to dig in seriously, he'd have to get away from their friends and all the distractions that intrigued him so now.

"If we were on that money, all our capital would be gone in a year. Then if I weren't able to work, if we decided maybe we'd like to have a baby—"

He broke in there. "Oh, Lord, have a heart. I'm just not cut out to be a father. I guess my paternal instincts are dormant. Babies just seem like squealing little animals to me." He grinned in dismay.

They'd never mentioned having children: it had been tacitly assumed that there'd never be any. "It was just a suggestion. I'll forget it. I haven't any too much affection for them myself," she agreed.

"But Jake, we can't use up what little capital we have. We can't tell what might happen. There isn't enough money to invest, the interest would be so small it would be useless. But if we buy a house, own land, then we'll save rent and we'll still have our money. We don't have to stay in the country forever. Just until I'm all right. Then town."

Kay was pleading earnestly. She even had herself convinced now that she wasn't well enough to keep on working. Her eyes were serious and she watched Jake's face, tried to detect his emotions. She hadn't anticipated a flat refusal. Her scheme might fall now, her hopes for Jake die still-born.

"Isn't there someone you could live with for this year, some rich old uncle or wealthy cousin?" he asked.

She turned her head away quickly, hoping to hide the tears that suddenly filled her eyes. But she wasn't quite swift enough.

"Oh, darling, I didn't mean that the way it sounds." He buried his head in her lap. "I'd go crazy without you. But it's just that all this is so new it scares me a little. I'm afraid for you, afraid for myself," he admitted.

"You've had an exciting life, full of action, stimulation, success. My life's been exciting, too. That is, it has been for me. I've been free to travel. I've known all kinds of people. I've been alone a good deal, but that's because I wanted to be. There have always been people when I wanted them."

She ran her fingers through his hair, let him talk himself out.

"It wouldn't be as though we never could see anyone," she said. "We could get to town often. And Jake, it would be a marvelous opportunity for you to work." She wasn't going to hammer this point, but she did want to mention it, to have it in his mind while he was thrashing this whole business out.

"I don't have to go to the sticks to work," he said.

"No, I know that." She didn't remind him of how little work he'd done all winter. "I just thought it would be something to do to keep you from getting too bored with me."

She turned his face toward her, smiled and then leaned down and kissed his cheek. "He's not very flattering," she thought, "but at least he's being honest, and it's an incredibly difficult situation for me to face. I guess it's the first time in his life that he has to do something that he doesn't want to do. It takes some schooling to be unselfish with good grace."

"Kiss me again," he said. "You must think I'm a heel. All I've done is fuss about me." She kissed him, long this time.

"No, I don't think you're a heel. I think you've been grand. It's not so hard for me, because I have no choice. But it's something else again for you. If you can't face the thought, I'll go alone. You can stay in town and come up week-ends. I could borrow enough money to live on for a year—maybe I could even earn some putting up preserves or something." She was going to ridiculous limits.

TO AMERICANS

FOLK: Next week registration for War Ration Book No. 2 is scheduled throughout the country. I hope that every Circleville and Pickaway county housewife is reading every thing she can read concerning the new point rationing plan. It is to her advantage to know every detail concerning registration and operation of the point system program. Registration will be held in the high school nearest your home at definite hours set up by school administrators. You should appear in your respective school as early as possible in the week. Registration begins at 1 p. m. Tuesday and continues through Friday. Schools will close at 6 p. m. each day except Wednesday when registrants will remain on the job until 9:30 p. m. No person should apply unless he or she has a War Ration Book No. 1, the one used for sugar, coffee shoes. The person who registers for the entire family should take all ration books the family owns. Consumer's Declarations must also be filled out in complete detail. A copy of the Consumer's Declaration was published in Wednesday's Herald; school children have taken mimeographed copies of the declaration to their homes. No Book No. 2 will be issued to persons who do not have their Book No. 1 or to persons who have not filled out the Consumer's Declaration. After registration is completed the freeze on canned goods will be lifted and sale under the point rationing system will be started.

More information will appear from time to time concerning the point ration plan. It is to your advantage to read every article which appears concerning the program. Know what to do when the time comes to do it.

TO ABLE-BODIED

MEN, WOMEN: This is just another reminder that all of you who are physically able should register at Red Cross headquarters, West Main street, as a blood donor. Registration is moving along very well, Red Cross officials announce, but many more persons are needed if the city and county are to reach their quota of 240 persons, 120 of whom will appear each of the two days the Red Cross mobile unit is at the First Methodist church. Complete arrangements are being made for the appearance of the mobile unit; women who will have roles in the work are training themselves for these jobs. The Red Cross wants 240 pints of blood from this city in the two day tour. Importance of early registration cannot be stressed too greatly. Persons signing up will be mailed cards showing them when to report. All will be examined to determine whether they should give blood, and any persons who cannot spare a pint of blood will not be permitted to give it. Red Cross office is open Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday afternoons.

TO EVERYONE

ALL: When you go to bed Saturday night turn your clock back one hour, and when you arise Sunday morning you will be observing the time approved for Ohio by the governor and his legislature. There are going to be a lot of headaches, especially since federal offices, defense plants, railroads, postoffices and other kindred units are going to continue on 'fast' time, the schedule set down by the War Production Board as the time needed in the nation's war effort. City council has decided in the interests of agricultural pursuits that we should abide by the newly-advocated time, so that is what we will do. Here's hoping it works out to the advantage of all.

CIRCUITEER.

TO CIVILIANS

FRIENDS: Our soldiers, sailors, marines and air men are expected to do their duty cleanly and honorably, and they will. The only question, apparently, is about civilians. Will they be good sportsmen, and show that they have "what it takes," and do their share of the work and the saving and helping and sharing? At the worst, anyway, the people in this fortunate land have, and will continue to have, more to eat and drunk and wear and enjoy than the citizens of any other nation in the world. There is enough of every important thing for everybody and there will continue to be enough, if everyone will follow his conscience and his sporting instincts and not grab and hoard and cheat, for himself or anybody else. And all will be happier that way. There can't be much real satisfaction, anyway, in trying to get the best of friends and neighbors in a time like this. The fellow who cheats will probably find that his conscience hurts him for a long, long time.

CIRCUITEER.

TO MOTORISTS

DRIVERS: Despite gasoline and tire rationing which affect every Pickaway county motorist traffic deaths in the district have already become heavy so far this year. In less than two months' time three persons have met death on Pickaway county roads. If this average continues there will be 18 persons killed this year. Last year only five persons were killed in the entire 12 months. I hope that motorists will cut down their speed to a safe figure so that under all circumstances their cars may be kept under control. Strict adherence to the government's 35-mile-an-hour decree would help to keep the traffic toll at a minimum. Here's hoping.

CIRCUITEER.

TO BUSINESS MEN

MERCHANTS: Tonight Circleville Chamber of Commerce conducts its annual meeting, and your presence is of importance to the organization and to yourself. A splendid program has been arranged, a fine dinner will be served, and a review of 1942 activity will be read by the C. of C. secretary. No organization is stronger than the persons who make up its membership. They get out of any organization just what they put into it. Chamber of Commerce officials are hoping to have a record crowd at the meeting, which is open to men and women. I'd like to see you there.

How Emotions Can Produce Semblance of Heart Disease

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

THE HEART has notably been associated with the emotions. When we ordinarily talk about a man's heart, we are referring not to the physical disturbances which he might have but to his emotional and sympathetic reactions. This means, at least, that the heart can be disturbed by psychologic states and that this will often fool the patient and sometimes the doctor into believing that real organic heart disease is present.

Dr. Clending will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

Physicians often speak of a "cardiac neurosis" by which they mean a patient who is so upset about his heart or by the actions of his heart that it is difficult to convince him that no serious heart failure is present. These are very difficult patients to treat because it is by no means easy to convince them of this fact. And indeed sometimes it almost looks as if organic or at least physiologic heart disease could arise from an upset nervous system.

Soldier's Heart

The condition described as "soldier's heart" by Dr. da Costa, of Philadelphia, during the Civil War and which we called neuro-circulatory asthenia in World War I, was unquestionably due to the interference of the emotions of fear and apprehension with the normal functioning of the heart rate.

There is a question which certain psychologists have brought up as to whether, in a person who has first an emotional disorder causing functional upset of the heart, such as irregular pulse, with the disturbance continuing for a long time, it isn't possible for structural or organic changes to arise in the heart.

There is still another aspect of the situation and it concerns the situation where a person has actual organic heart disease, such as high blood pressure or angina pectoris. The question arises as to what effect emotional storms have on the course and outcome of his disease.

I have recently been shown examples of two patients who exhibited this relationship. One was a man, 45 years of age, who had for several years had symptoms of emotional upset in the form of depression, irritability and restlessness.

Then one day he had a severe pain over the heart with a smothering sensation, a sense of pressure in the chest and pain down the left arm.

Symptoms Associated With Fear These symptoms which were attributed to angina pectoris were associated with great fear so that within a short time it was difficult to tell whether he was sicker from his heart or from his emotional state. In fact, he was sent by his physician to a psychologist who made a complete psychologic study of him and found that he remembered being present when there were arguments between his mother and his father, and as early as the age of four these domestic scenes would produce pain over his heart.

Another patient with the same feeling of depression had pain and a smothering sensation in the chest. He stated that these attacks occurred when his wife left for a visit; he assured the physician that he would be all right as soon as his wife returned to town.

Both of these cases showed evidence by instrumental examination of considerable organic trouble in the heart, and it is significant that both of them were treated more by the psychologist than by any drugs or physical forms of treatment.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS S. D. S.—What is the illness known as migrating thrombophlebitis? Is there a cure for it?

Answer: Thrombophlebitis migrans is a curious disease in which a vein, usually on the hand, becomes hard and painful. This lasts about a week and then a vein in the arm, but not necessarily connected with the vein in the hand, becomes inflamed in the same way; or perhaps a vein on the opposite hand or arm is affected. This may go on for some time, with various veins all over the body acting up in this fashion. The cause is unknown and there is no specific treatment, but all cases eventually clear up without leaving any residue.

CHAPTER TWENTY-FIVE
"YOU'RE NOT going to be an invalid, be desperately sick, are you?" Jake asked Kay.

"No. Really I'm not." She sighed a little with relief. "I just have to take a sort of sabbatical year."

"What shall we do? Where can we go. Honey, it's going to be awful for you. I'm used to hobnobbing around, considering one room a home." He looked at her hand. It was white, the skin was flawless, the nails freshly manicured. "You have such patrician little hands. I've never seen you use them for anything but signing a check or paying a taxi."

"Pretty useless accomplishments. I think it's going to be fun to harden them, to make them really serve some purpose."

"You may think so now. But you'd hate it. How hard up will we be? We never talk about money. To tell the truth, I don't even think about it." He gave her a chagrined smile.

"We'll be quite hard up. The only money I have saved is a few thousand dollars, enough to buy us a little place. We'll have to depend on your income for our living expenses."

She let her fingers dabble in the brook. The sound of the water as it trickled over the stones was soothing. Out here, where it was so still, so peaceful, she felt anything was possible. She wished, though, that she knew just what was going on in Jake's mind. He was thinking hard.

"If you have a few thousand dollars, why wouldn't that tide us over the year, until you are well enough to work again?" he asked. "Buying a place is a terribly final sort of act. I've always hated the idea of being loaded down with possessions. And, darling, we're city folk. We'd better try the country first, see if we can stand it, before we go buying any house."

Kay really felt sorry for him. If she had thought there was any chance of getting him really to work and steady down in New York, she would have given in. But if Jake was to dig in seriously, he'd have to get away from his friends and all the distractions that intrigued him so now.

"If we live on that money, all our capital would be gone in a year. Then if I weren't able to work, if we decided maybe we'd like to have a baby—"

He broke in there. "Oh, Lord, have a heart. I'm just not cut out to be a father. I guess my paternal instincts are dormant. Babies just seem like squealing little animals to me." He grinned in dismay. They'd never mentioned having children; it had been tacitly assumed that there'd never be any.

"It was just a suggestion. I'll forget it. I haven't any too much affection for them myself," she agreed.

"But Jake, we can't use up what little capital we have. We can't let what might happen. There isn't enough money to invest, the interest would be so small it would be useless. But if we buy a house, own land, then we'll save rent and we'll still have our money. We don't have to stay in the country forever. Just until I'm all right. Then town."

Kay was pleading earnestly. She even had herself convinced now that she wasn't well enough to keep on working. Her eyes were serious and she watched Jake's face, tried to detect his emotions. She hadn't anticipated a flat refusal. Her scheme might fall now, her hopes for Jake die still-born.

"Isn't there someone you could live with for this year, some rich old uncle or wealthy cousin?" he asked.

She turned her head away quickly, hoping to hide the tears that suddenly filled her eyes. But she wasn't quite swift enough. "Oh, darling, I didn't mean that the way it sounds." He buried his head in her lap. "I'd go crazy without you. But it's just that all this is so new it scares me a little. I'm afraid for you, afraid for myself," he admitted.

"You've had an exciting life, full of action, stimulation, success. My life's been exciting, too. That is, it has been for me. I've been free to travel. I've known all kinds of people. I've been along a good deal, but that's because I wanted to be. There have always been people when I wanted them."

She ran her fingers through his hair, let him talk himself out.

"It wouldn't be as though we never could see anyone," she said. "We could get to town often. And Jake, it would be a marvelous opportunity for you to work." She wasn't going to hammer this point, but she did want to mention it, to have it in his mind while he was thrashing this whole business out.

"I don't have to go to the sticks to work," he said.

"No, I know that." She didn't remind him of how little work he'd done all winter. "I just thought it would be something to do to keep you from getting too bored with me."

She turned her face toward her, smiled and then leaned down and kissed his cheek. "He's not very flattering," she thought, "but at least he's being honest, and it's an incredibly difficult situation for him to face. I guess it's the first time in his life that he has to do something that he doesn't want to do. It takes some schooling to be unselfish with good grace."

"Kiss me again," he said. "You must think I'm a heel. All I've done is fuss about me." She kissed him, long this time.

"No, I don't think you're a heel. I think you've been grand. It's not so hard for me, because I have no choice. But it's something else again for you. If you can't face the thought, I'll go alone. You can stay in town and come up week-ends. I could borrow enough money to live on for a year—maybe I could even earn some putting up preserves or something." She was going to ridiculous limits.

He burst out laughing. "Next thing you'll suggest slaughtering hogs. No, honey, we might as well face the sentence together." He stood up, stretched, kicked an old log. "I can't say I fancy it. But I guess we can stand a year of anything."

Walking back to the Inn, Kay decided that Jake had really taken it all in a more sensible spirit than she had thought he would. It amused and did not surprise her that there was another alternative that hadn't even occurred to him. And that was that he might earn enough money to support her. Just as well. Now all she had to do was ease him into steady practice, lessons, long hours of work.

They didn't talk much more about the move. That afternoon Jake got restless. "If we're going to spend a year in the country, we'll have enough without staying here now," he said. "Let's go to Boston."

So they made a wild dash, bouncing and joggling along in Jenny, and got to Boston in time for dinner. Jake called up some old friends and the reunion celebration lasted until 5 o'clock in the morning.

There was another party on Sunday, and they didn't get started for New York until late in the evening. That meant Jake had to drive all night, with Kay curled up on the front seat trying to catch a little sleep. She barely had time to take a shower and change her clothes before she left for the store.

"Are you exhausted?" Jake asked, as he sat with her while she hastily drank a cup of coffee.

"Oh, no. I feel fine," she said with a wry smile. "It was fun though, wasn't it?" Jake had given himself wholeheartedly over to the festivities. And it had been fun. She and Jake hadn't had a spree like that for months.

"Yes, it was. But I'll probably have to stick pins in myself to keep awake."

"Why don't you stay home? We'll sleep until this afternoon, then dig up Tony and Het and all have dinner, go somewhere and dance," he urged.

"I can't do that. I've got too much work to do. And one day's hookey is enough." She got up from the table, walked into the hall, started to put on her hat. Jake followed her, leaned indolently against the doorway.

"Anyway," Kay went on, "I want to tell David the news today. I'll try and get away early." She could hardly keep her eyes open.

"How about tonight? Shall I fix something up?"

"Not for me. I'll be in bed by 9 o'clock." She wished longingly that it was that time already.

"Do you mind if I go out?"

"Of course not. Go ahead." He was obviously going to pack all the fun he could into the next few weeks. Kay didn't blame him. David was abbergasted when he heard the news.

United Nations post-war control plan growing Many nations now favor some such idea

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

SENTIMENT for United Nations joint control of the post-war economic world is gaining ground, unquestionably.

English statesmanship is tolling overtime for a preliminary agreement that this country will not be able to get out of, even if a few of our public men do regard it rather coldly when the time comes. A mere handful of them criticize it adversely already, but their number is inconsiderable. Canada has a regular commission in Washington, working for international unanimity.

The Chinese concur. So do the Fighting French. Duce Mussolini's recent cabinet shakeup implies that Benito is trying to head off Italy from a trend in the same direction.

The Spanish rank and file would go for the idea. Of the 20 Latin American republics, 19 verge on a desire to join us as states, Argentina being the lone exception. And even the Argentinean recalcitrants are showing signs of weakening lately. They couldn't afford to go it alone.

Russia, it is true, is a problem. Present-day Russians are a pretty queer people to reckon with.

About the only government that shows no post-war economic get-together inclination is Germany. And that can blow up suddenly. Let Adolf Hitler pop and there is no knowing how quickly the rest of the Reich will fall in line. They have done it pretty rapidly before.

If, however, the United Nations do effect an economic combination, will they let the Germans in upon any share of it, no matter how thoroughly licked they may admit themselves to be?

Italy, yes—assuming that Benito is abolished, as he will be. That is a safe bet.

But Germany and Japan? They are not such good gamblers.

Donald Mason Talks At Pickaway P-T Meet

Food Rationing Discussed By Panel Chief

Donald Mason, food panel chairman of the Pickaway County Ration Board, gave an interesting talk on "Food Rationing" at the Thursday meeting of Pickaway Parent-Teacher association in the school auditorium. About 75 were present for the occasion.

During the business hour in charge of Mrs. Nell Morris, president, the association members voted in favor of a basketball banquet for the boys of the team, to be held at the end of the tournament series. Miss Hazle Chilcote, secretary, and Andrew Warner, treasurer, read their reports and Mrs. Clarence Maxson conducted the devotionals.

The program numbers announced by Mrs. George Clements included group singing of "God Bless America," a short playlet by the 3rd grade pupils under the direction of Miss Louise Stuckey; piano duet, Helen Wilson and Norma Jean Penn; reading, Edith Rapp; vocal solo, Mildred Arledge and a vocal solo by Bobby Wilson.

After the instructive talk by Mr. Mason, a question period was held.

A fine lunch was served by the hospitality committee.

Deercreek P-T-A.

Deercreek Parent-Teacher association met Thursday at the Williamsport school where an excellent cooperative dinner was served at 6:30 p. m. to about 75 members.

A large number of members and guests came later for the fine program. Mrs. George Wing was general chairman of the dinner committee.

The Rev. F. G. Strickland, president, conducted the business session and Mrs. John H. Dunlap Jr. and Mrs. Strickland were co-chairmen of the program for the combined January and February session.

Two numbers by the uniformed high school band opened the program and was followed by American Folk Songs by Virginia Van Buskirk, Doris Hulise and Norma Jean Schleich. Mrs. Paul Rose played piano accompaniments for the trio. In the next novelty number, the trio was assisted by the Two-Thirds Dance team, Geraldine Christopher, Rose Evelyn Wardell, Betty Hill, Patty Betts and Mary Lou Wheat.

Mrs. Strickland interested the group with her reading, "Let the Teacher Teach." The later program hour was devoted to a symposium: "Community Co-operation." A. W. Boyer discussed What does the school expect from the community? The Rev. Robert Meyer, What does the community expect from the school? Maxwell Ferguson, What do the teachers expect from the parents? and Miss Virginia Van Buskirk. What do the scholars expect from the teachers.

The combined March and April session will be the third Thursday in April.

Past Matrons' Circle

Members of the Past Matrons' and Patrons' Circle of the Order of the Eastern Star enjoyed a delightful meeting Thursday in the red room, Masonic temple. A short business hour was conducted by Mrs. G. H. Spangler, president. The Circle voted to send $5 to the Occupational Therapy Fund of the Masonic Home at Springfield, Ohio.

The committee on entertainment presented Mrs. N. E. Reichelderfer in two splendid patriotic readings, the address of Washington to his soldiers before the battle of Long Island, and the other, Lincoln's address at Gettysburg.

Mrs. Spangler read an article entitled "A Great American, the Liberty Bell," which was a history of many of the interesting events connected with this symbol of all that America holds dear.

Following the program, delightful refreshments were served by Mrs. G. H. Adkins and Mrs. Harry Griner.

The March committee includes Mr. and Mrs. Leslie D. May, Miss Essie Reber and Mrs. O. C. King.

Pythian Sisters

An enjoyable program and a covered dish supper were features of the monthly social meeting of the Pythian Sisters, held Thursday in the lodge room, Pythian Castle. Miss Ethel Stein, most excellent chief, conducted the opening of the session and the brief business hour.

Mrs. Loring Evans and Miss Alice Wilson were in charge of interesting contests with prizes going to Mrs. Ralph Roby and Mrs. Merle Lape.

The cooperative supper was served at a table made attractive with patriotic appointments. A large red V and napkins patterned in red, white and blue were interesting details of the decorations.

Mrs. G. M. Newton and Mrs. Lape were members of the hospitality committee.

Advisory Council 4

Twenty members of Advisory Council 4 of Jackson township heard a most informative talk on "Income Tax" by F. K. Blair at the meeting Thursday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kern of that community. Mr. Blair in his talk discussed income tax from the point of view of the farmer.

Jay Seaburn, council president, conducted the business meeting and received the report of Mrs. Henry Butts, secretary.

Henry Butts, discussion leader, talked briefly and led a discussion on food rationing.

Mrs. Kern was in charge of contests in which prizes were won by Mrs. Leo Hodgson and Mrs. Herbert Thomas. Refreshments were served.

The next meeting, March 18, will be at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Krimmel, Jackson township.

Three T Club

Mrs. Floyd James of New Holland entertained members of the Three T club at a delightful 1 o'clock luncheon Thursday at her home. Guests were served at small tables attractively centered with patriotic arrangements. Mrs. Harold Costlow, New Holland, was a guest in addition to club members.

Jesus the Good Shepherd

HIGHLIGHTS ON THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for Feb. 21 is John 10, the Golden Text being John 10:11, "I am the good shepherd; the good shepherd layeth down his life for the sheep.")

"CHRIST the Good Shepherd," but what is a good shepherd? In Palestine it is said, sheep raising is carried on in the same manner as in Biblical times. According to Professor Richards, "the sheep of Palestine are still the broad-tailed sheep. The tail is from five to 15 inches wide, and weighs from 10 to 15 pounds, sometimes even as much as 30 pounds, supplying 10 pounds and upwards of pure fat, which is packed for winter use."

"The shepherd leads his sheep during the day in the cool months, but in the hotter part of the year from sunset to early morning, when he brings them back to the fold, or leaves them to lie under prepared shelter under the bushes.

Fold Is Walled

"The fold is a low flat shed or series of sheds, with a yard surrounded by a wall; on cold nights the flocks are shut in buildings. The wall is surmounted by a fence of sharp thorns to keep out the wolves and other wild beasts; jackals and hyenas prey almost up to the walls of Jerusalem, while leopards and panthers often leap over the high fence of the fold, and the shepherd is still at times known to lay down his life for the sheep. Robbers are as great a source of danger; a lamb or a kid is sometimes carried off by a bird of prey, and there are deadly snakes in the limestone rocks. The Gospel parable does not exaggerate the rejoicing of the shepherd when he has recovered a sheep that has gone astray upon the mountains."

We must keep this picture of the shepherd and the shepherd in mind when we read the lesson today, of Jesus who said He was the good shepherd who would lay down His life for His sheep.

Porter Cares for Sheep

"Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that entereth not by the door into the sheepfold, but climbeth up some other way, the same is a thief and a robber. But he that entereth in by the door is the shepherd of the sheep. To him the porter openeth; and the sheep hear his voice; and he calleth his

Donald Mason Talks At Pickaway P-T Meet

Food Rationing Discussed By Panel Chief

Donald Mason, food panel chairman of the Pickaway County Ration Board, gave an interesting talk on "Food Rationing" at the Thursday meeting of Pickaway-Parent-Teacher association in the school auditorium. About 75 were present for the occasion.

During the business hour in charge of Mrs. Nell Morris, president, the association members voted in favor of a basketball banquet for the boys of the team, to be held at the end of the tournament series. Miss Hazle Chilcote, secretary, and Andrew Warner, treasurer, read their reports and Mrs. Clarence Maxson conducted the devotionals.

The program numbers announced by Mrs. George Clements included group singing of "God Bless America," a short playlet by the 3rd grade pupils under the direction of Miss Louise Stuckey; piano duet, Helen Wilson and Norma Jean Penn; reading, Edith Rapp; vocal solo, Mildred Arledge and a vocal solo by Bobby Wilson. After the instructive talk by Mr. Mason, a question period was held.

A fine lunch was served by the hospitality committee.

Deer Creek P-T-A.

Deer Creek Parent-Teacher association met Thursday at the Williamsport school where an excellent cooperative dinner was served at 6:30 p. m. to about 75 members. A large number of members and guests came later for the fine program. Mrs. George Wing was general chairman of the dinner committee.

The Rev. F. G. Strickland, president, conducted the business session and Mrs. John H. Dunlap Jr. and Mrs. Strickland were co-chairmen of the program for the combined January and February session.

Two numbers by the uniformed high school band opened the program and was followed by American Folk Songs by Virginia Van Auskirk, Doris Hulse and Norma Jean Schleich. Mrs. Paul Rose played piano accompaniments for the trio. In the next novelty number, the trio was assisted by the Two-Thirds Dance team, Geraldine Christopher, Rose Evelyn Wardell, Betty Hill, Patty Betts and Mary Lou Wheat.

Mrs. Strickland interested the group with her reading, "Let the Teacher Teach." The later program hour was devoted to a symposium: "Community Co-operation." A. W. Boyer discussed What does the school expect from the community? The Rev. Robert Meyer, What does the community expect from the school? Maxwell Ferguson, What do the teachers expect from the parents? and Miss Virginia Van Auskirk, What do the scholars expect from the teachers.

The combined March and April session will be the third Thursday in April.

Past Matrons' Circle

Members of the Past Matrons' and Patrons' Circle of the Order of the Eastern Star enjoyed a delightful meeting Thursday in the red room, Masonic temple. A short business hour was conducted by Mrs. G. H. Spangler, president. The Circle voted to send $5 to the Occupational Therapy Fund of the Masonic Home at Springfield, Ohio.

The committee on entertainment presented Mrs. N. E. Reichelderfer in two splendid patriotic readings, the address of Washington to his soldiers before the battle of Long Island, and the other, Lincoln's address at Gettysburg.

Mrs. Spangler read an article entitled "A Great American, the Liberty Bell," which was a history of many of the interesting events connected with this symbol of all that America holds dear.

Following the program, delight-

Jesus the Good Shepherd

HIGHLIGHTS ON THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for Feb. 21 is John 10, the Golden Text being John 10:11, "I am the good shepherd; the good shepherd layeth down his life for the sheep.")

"CHRIST the Good Shepherd," but what is a good shepherd? In Palestine it is said, sheep raising is carried on in the same manner as in Biblical times. According to Professor Richards, "the sheep of Palestine are still the broad-tailed sheep. The tail is from five to 15 inches wide, and weighs from 10 to 15 pounds, sometimes even as much as 30 pounds, supplying 10 pounds and upwards of pure fat, which is packed for winter use."

"The shepherd leads his sheep during the day in the cool months, but in the hotter part of the year from sunset to early morning, when he brings them back to the fold, or leaves them to lie under prepared shelter under the bushes."

Fold Is Walled

"The fold is a low flat shed or series of sheds, with a yard surrounded by a wall; on cold nights the flocks are shut in buildings. The wall is surmounted by a fence of sharp thorns to keep out the wolves and other wild beasts; jackals and hyenas prey almost up to the walls of Jerusalem, while leopards and panthers often leap over the high fence of the fold, and the shepherd is still at times known to lay down his life for the sheep. Robbers are as great a source of danger; a lamb or a kid is sometimes carried off by a bird of prey, and there are deadly snakes in the limestone rocks. The Gospel parable does not exaggerate the rejoicing of the shepherd when he has recovered a sheep that has gone astray upon the mountains."

We must keep this picture of the sheepfold and the shepherd in mind when we read the lesson today, of Jesus who said He was the good shepherd who would lay down his life for his sheep.

Porter Cares for Sheep

"Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that entereth not by the door into the sheepfold, but climbeth up some other way, the same is a thief and a robber. But he that entereth in by the door is the shepherd of the sheep. To him the porter openeth; and the sheep hear his voice; and he calleth his own sheep by name, and leadeth them out."

"The oriental sheepfolds are commonly walled or palisaded with one door open or gate. Into one of these enclosures several shepherds drive their flocks, leaving them in charge of an under-shepherd or porter, who fastens the door securely inside, and remains with the sheep all night. In the morning the shepherds come to the door, the porter opens to them, and each calls away his own sheep."

The sheep will not follow a stranger, but they know the voice of their own shepherd. He, Jesus, is the good shepherd, and those that love and believe in Him are His sheep, but the Pharisees were the thieves who had succeeded in establishing their authority in the sheepfold of God's people, exercising that authority in a despotic manner and being suspicious and jealous, even to the point of murder, toward anyone who disputed them.

Jesus Loved of God Jesus was loved of God because He was willing to lay down His life for His sheep. "No man taketh it from Me," He said, but "I lay it down of Myself," having the power to lay it down and take it up.

This divided the people, some of whom said He must be a devil and mad. Others said "Can a devil open the eyes of the blind?"

Then some said, "If Thou be Christ, tell us plainly," and Jesus answered, "I told you and ye believed it not. . . . I and My Father are one."

At that the Pharisees and their friends took up stones to kill Him, but He asked, "Many good works have I shewed you from My Father; for which of those works do ye stone Me?"

"For a good work we stone Thee not; but for blasphemy; and because that Thou, being a man, makest thyself God."

"Say ye of Him, whom the Father has sanctified, and sent into the world, Thou blasphemest; because I said, I am the Son of God?" asked Jesus.

BIG CAGE CARD LISTED TONIGHT

Four County Tournament And Two CHS-Greenfield Jousts Booked

A big basketball card is scheduled in Pickaway county Friday evening with country tournament opening and Circleville playing host to Greenfield in a South Central Ohio league game.

The tournament, played at Jackson township school, lines up as follows for tonight:

7 p. m.: Monroe against Salt-creek.

8 p. m.: Williamsport against New Holland.

9 p. m.: Walnut against Darby.

10 p. m.: Ashville against Jackson.

Saturday's quarter-finals will bring the following tilts:

7 p. m.: Winner of Monroe-Salt-creek vs. Washington.

8 p. m.: Winner of Williamsport-New Holland vs. Pickaway.

9 p. m.: Winner of Darby-Walnut vs. Perry.

10 p. m.: Winner of Ashville-Jackson vs. Scioto.

Semi-finals will be played next Friday with finals on Saturday.

The handsome trophy given by the Pickaway county Athletic association to the tournament winner is on exhibit in the show window of the Circleville Savings and Banking Co.

Circleville high's hopes of winning from Greenfield are not very high, since McClain had not lost a game this year and Circleville has won only one. However, the Red and Black knocked off Buckskin last week, a feat no other team had been able to do this year.

Reserve teams of the two schools will meet in a preliminary at 7 o'clock in the C.A.C. gym.

BIG TEN WILL SEND STARS TO CHICAGO RELAYS

CHICAGO, Feb. 19.—Performances by the year's top indoor track talent today were assured for the annual Chicago relays March 20 as Western Conference coaches promised to enter their stars.

The entry of the Big Ten schools make it certain that most of the champions who will emerge from the Western Conference track meet March 6 will be represented at the Chicago relays two weeks later.

Among the track stars who are expected to perform are Wisconsin's ace high jumper, Bob Hogsell; Michigan's 440-yard relay champion, Bob Ufer, and the mile relay team of Glass, Sears, Matthews and Ufer; Ohio State's mile relay team of Dupre, Jones, Colling and Owen; Illinois' Bob Kelley, 440 and 880-yard star, and Herb Matter, all-around champion; Purdue's mile relay team of Bancker, Farnsworth, Levinghouse and Archer, and Northwestern's David James, high jumper.

ANTON CHRISTOFORIDIS

MICHIGAN MEN VIE WITH OHIO IN BUCK CAMP

COLUMBUS, Feb. 19.—Saturday will be "M" day on the Ohio State university campus.

On that day the University of Michigan swimming and basketball teams will invade the Buckeye citadel for meets that go a long way toward making or breaking a season for both schools.

Already victorious in one meet at Ann Arbor, the Michigan swimmers will arrive with the idea of keeping their state clean while Coach Mike Peppe's men will be just as determined to end up on the winning end. In the meet at Michigan a few weeks ago the Ohio Staters were handicapped a bit by illness of several stars.

These boys will be in shape Saturday and Peppe believes he will be able to give the visitors a good run for their money.

The swimming meet will get under way at 2 o'clock in the varsity pool at the Natatorium.

Michigan and Ohio State both have gone through the basketball season with varied success but a great deal will be forgiven for the winner of the series at the Columbus Auditorium. Saturday's game will start at 8 o'clock and Monday night's game will be preceded by a freshman game against the Curtis Wright five.

Ohio State has lost five conference games to date but it must be recalled that four of the five losses were at the hands of Indiana and Illinois, the two undefeated teams in the conference.

One other Ohio State team, the fencers, will see action this week end when Michigan State College swordsmen appear at the gymnasium Friday afternoon.

SHREVEPORT, LA., CLUB PLAYERS GO TO SAINTS

As the Shreveport baseball club of the Texas league voted to disband for the duration, its entire roster of 16 players became the property of the St. Paul Saints of the American Association today.

While the Saints acquired the contracts of 16 players from the Sports, they actually will get only six performers as the other ten are in the armed forces.

The players acquired by the Saints include Manager Francis "Salty" Parker who was named manager of the Saints; Vernon George Washington, Texas league slugger; Charles Barron, first baseman and outfielder; Edwin A. Dillard and Joe Striched, pitchers, and Joe Vitter, utility outfielder.

Jack Brillhart, southpaw hurler of the Sports, was sold to San Diego of the Pacific coast league.

Shreveport won the Texas league playoff and championship last year.

Sugar Ray Robinson's Last Chance Carded

NEW YORK, Feb. 19 — The youngest they said was the greatest thing that came along Cauliflower Alley since Joe Louis came back to Madison Square Garden tonight to say good-bye to the fans of New York.

His name is Ray Robinson and though he is rated a 2-1 favorite over Sergeant Wilson of California, whom he will meet in a 10 round bout, there are many citizens in the village who feel Sugar Ray will get his ears pinned back.

Robinson, who is slated to enter the army on March 2 is on the spot. He came whirling through the fight racket like a comet careening crazily through the skies. He won 40 straight pro fights after an amateur career unequalled in recent seasons.

Then he went out to Detroit a couple of weeks back to meet Jake La Motta of the Bronx, N. Y. Ray had given Jake a good going over in a bout at the garden and either took the return too lightly or was not in shape. He was soundly trounced, all but knocked out and suffered the first defeat of his professional career.

Since Sergeant Wilson, something of a journeyman fighter since he entered the service, also suffered a set-back at the hands of La Motta the spoiler it was only natural for Uncle Mike Jacobs to pair the pair in a consolation match.

Oddly enough this fight will sell out the garden. It is the first all-colored main event since the John Henry Lewis-Joe Louis affair four years ago and it will draw a crowd of from 17,000 to 19,000—unless we are a little daffy.

Robinson is scheduled to meet the aforementioned Mr. La Motta in a return in Detroit, February 26. That will be his last pro fight for the duration and it is not likely he will try to go into his new assignment smarting under recent defeats.

Wilson is a good long range puncher and undoubtedly will be at better advantage against Robinson than he was against the much heavier unorthodox La Motta.

Jackie is reported to have wagered $500 on himself against Ray, some of the gossips insist that the Sugar Kid has lost his fighting spirit; is concerned about entering the service, etc.

We don't believe any such thing. Perhaps something is wrong with Ray. We wouldn't know about his mental gymnastics.

If he fights as we think he will, however—for the stake we believe he wants, a full page in the memory book of his fans—he will flatten the sergeant.

Wilson is a good boy but we don't think he belongs in the same ring with Robinson. That is not a rap at Jackie but a personal opinion.

We pick Robinson by a kayo

NOTRE DAME TO PLAY FRESHMEN IF BIG 10 DOES

Irish School Will Send Cavanaugh To Attend Conference Confab

DECISION DUE SUNDAY

Michigan State, Marquette Also To Use Youthful Athletes In 1943

CHICAGO, Feb. 19.—Notre Dame was expected today to join in whatever action Western Conference officials take Sunday on the freshmen residence rule for varsity sports competition during wartime.

The South Bend, Ind., university was invited to send a representative to the meeting of Big Ten directors of athletics which follows the session of the conference faculty committee at which abrogation of the freshmen rule will be discussed.

The Rev. John Cavanaugh, C. S. C., vice president of Notre Dame and chairman of the faculty board in control of athletics, said university officials are committed to a policy of following Western Conference emergency eligibility actions.

"We play many contests in all sports against conference teams, so that the reasonable course for us is to adapt our regulations to coincide with the Big Ten's," Father Cavanaugh said. "If the conference faculty committee should decide to waive the one-year residence requirement, I am sure our board will meet as soon as possible thereafter to make the same change."

That the conference is likely to waive the freshmen ban, became apparent with the calling of the special faculty committee and athletic directors meeting in Chicago for next Sunday. The freshmen ban was lifted during World War I.

Michigan State, which along with Marquette generally is represented at the regular meetings of the conference, already has announced that freshmen will be eligible for Spartan teams March 1.

THREE RUNNER SHOW STRENGTH IN MILE EVENT

By John Cashman

NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—For the first time in years, the indoor track season is under way with the mile dominated, not by one man, but by three, with the definite possibility that the middle-distance rivalry may remain wide open for the entire length of the Winter campaign.

Readying themselves today for their third clash in tomorrow night's Baxter mile at the New York athletic club invitation meet in Madison Square Garden, are the blistering trio who in two weeks have established themselves as standouts: Earl Mitchell, of Indiana; Gil Dodds, of the Boston A. A.; and Frank Dixon, New York university freshman.

Dodds is desperate for a victory, having lost in the last lap in the Millrose games to Mitchell, and to Dixon in the Boston meet. He is still rated with his victorious rivals, however, having the fastest mile of the three to his credit—4:08—when he ran second to Les MacMittell last year. He ran the fastest three-quarters ever recorded for the board, again running second to Glenn Cunningham.

But according to Daniel J. Ferris, secretary treasurer of the A. A. U., Mitchell is the boy who might come through in the Baxter.

"Mitchell might repeat in the Baxter," said Ferris, "because of his great last-lap reserve, that he displayed so well in the Millrose. In that race, he was only 1:02 off the indoor record, yet he was full of run at the finish."

"Dodds last season indicated he might be a standout, but has failed in two races this year. He seems to be caught in the middle—if he runs a slow race, Mitchell beats him, and if he runs a fast race, Dixon

BIG CAGE CARD LISTED TONIGHT

Four County Tournament And Two CHS-Greenfield Jousts Booked

A big basketball card is scheduled in Pickaway county Friday evening with country tournament opening and Circleville playing host to Greenfield in a South Central Ohio league game.

The tournament, played at Jackson township school, lines up as follows for tonight:

7 p. m.: Monroe against Salt-creek.

8 p. m.: Williamsport against New Holland.

9 p. m.: Walnut against Darby.

10 p. m.: Ashville against Jackson.

Saturday's quarter-finals will bring the following tilts:

7 p. m.: Winner of Monroe-Salt-creek vs. Washington.

8 p. m.: Winner of Williamsport-New Holland vs. Pickaway.

9 p. m.: Winner of Darby-Walnut vs. Perry.

10 p. m.: Winner of Ashville-Jackson vs. Scioto.

Semi-finals will be played next Friday with finals on Saturday.

The handsome trophy given by the Pickaway county Athletic association to the tournament winner is on exhibit in the show window of the Circleville Savings and Banking Co.

Circleville high's hopes of winning from Greenfield are not very high, since McClain had not lost a game this year and Circleville has won only one. However, the Red and Black knocked off Buckskin last week, a feat no other team had been able to do this year.

Reserve teams of the two schools will meet in a preliminary at 7 o'clock in the C.A.C. gym.

BIG TEN WILL SEND STARS TO CHICAGO RELAYS

CHICAGO, Feb. 19.—Performances by the year's top indoor track talent today were assured for the annual Chicago relays March 20 as Western Conference coaches promised to enter their stars.

The entry of the Big Ten schools make it certain that most of the champions who will emerge from the Western Conference track meet March 6 will be represented at the Chicago relays two weeks later.

Among the track stars who are expected to perform are Wisconsin's ace high jumper, Bob Hoggins; Michigan's 440-yard run champion, Bob Ufer; and the mile relay team of Glass, Sears, Mathews and Ufer; Ohio State's mile relay team of Dupre, Jones, Colling and Owen; Illinois' Bob Kelley, 440 and 880-yard star, and Herb Matter, all-around champion; Purdue's mile relay team of Banker, Farnsworth, Levinghouse and Archer, and Northwestern's David James, high jumper.

ARMY RELIEF CHIEF

Major General Irving J. Phillipson, head of Army Emergency Relief, will speak from Washington at the end of the Radio Theatre's presentation of Irving Berlin's all-soldier show, "This Is the Army," on Washington's Birthday, February 22. The broadcast will be heard over CBS at 9 p. m. Directly before Major General Phillipson goes on the air, Irving Berlin will tell him from the Radio Theatre stage in Hollywood the exact amount, to date, that "This Is the Army" has earned for the Army Emergency Relief Fund. The figures should be amazing in view of the fact the original plan was just to have the show run for four weeks on Broadway. The public demand was so great following the rave reviews, a coast-to-coast tour was made and "This Is the Army" is shortly to be made into a movie.

ELKS VS. AUXILIARY

Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, which is celebrating its 75th anniversary this year, provides the contestants for the Frank Crumit-Julia Sanderson quiz on CBS, on Saturday, at 8 p. m., over CBS. Representing the Elks will be George L. Hill, Hempstead, L. I., chairman of the large activities committee of the Grand Lodge; Thomas F. Cuite, past exalted ruler of the Brooklyn lodge, and M. B. Postlethwaite, 75-year-old Elk from Bluefield, W. Va., who is in New York as the guest of the Elks' War Commission. On the women's team, composed of Elks' wives, will be Ruth Altman, whose father is secretary of the New York lodge; Mrs. W. T. Fraser, of North Carolina, and Mrs. Al Short, whose husband is assistant district attorney of Queens County, N. Y., and exalted ruler of the Queensboro lodge. In addition to the quiz, the show will include songs by Crumit and Sanderson.

Pipe Line Builders Pause for Dedication Ceremony in Illinois.

LONGVIEW OIL PUMPED INTO FIRST SECTION

First Cars Loaded At Norris City Head East Toward Shortage Area

WORK BEING SPEEDED

Cold Local Weather Aids Construction Progress In Local District

The new Texas to Illinois pipeline, vital artery of steel through which oil from the rich Texas field is being speeded eastward, was dedicated Friday at ceremonies conducted in Norris City, Ill., a village of 1,300 persons.

Oil from the Longview, Texas, fields is badly needed on the east coast and, beginning Friday when thousands of gallons of oil were started east in tank cars, from now on a steady stream of oil will be traveling to the Atlantic seaboard.

Officials of the War Emergency Pipeline Corporation from Washington and Cleveland participated in the dedication which was conducted at noon. Ceremonies were conducted as first cars loaded from tanks at the Norris City terminal started east.

Work Continues

Because the pipeline is a defense project no public program was arranged. Workmen employed on the project did not quit their tasks for the ceremonies.

The first oil flowed through the newly-completed 551-mile pipeline from Texas to Norris City last week, and was directed into an 80,000-barrel tank until the tank was filled. The oil was then shut off and will be held in the line until other tanks now in the process of installation are completed.

The oil is being pumped directly from the line into the tank cars for eastern delivery. Fifteen oil storage tanks, each of 80,000-gallon capacity, are planned. The pipeline began delivering oil to the Norris City terminus at the rate of 60,000 barrels a day, but this is expected to increase to 300,000 barrels a day.

Extension Planned

Later, an 857-mile extension pipeline is to deliver the vital oil to the east at Bayonne, N. J. This pipeline, work on which was begun before the Texas to Illinois pipeline was completed, will run through Indiana, Ohio and Pennsylvania. When the complete pipeline is operating it is expected to deliver as much oil to eastern refineries as could be handled by 85 tankers operating between the gulf and the eastern seaboard.

Construction of the Texas to Illinois pipeline required six months, and the steel tubing was laid through Ozark mountain country with three large rivers in its path.

During the last week with cold weather prevailing workmen employed by Bechtel and Dempsey and by H. C. Price, operating in the Circleville area, have made excellent progress through the area north and east of Circleville. Work had been somewhat impeded through this district because of warm weather, causing mud which slowed down operations. With temperatures reading between zero and 15 degrees above zero, pipeline crews found working conditions much better.

ROTARY CLUB HEARS ADDRESS BY ROGER VEGA

Roger Vega addressed the Rotary club Thursday, discussing Latin American relations. He declared that the people of Central and South America sincerely desire closer ties with the United States, but that some high points of history make them believe that the United States is more interested in Latin American profits than people. He dealt at some length with the history of Cuba, of which he is a native.

In closing Mr. Vega proposed a toast that the only weapons ever to be used between the United States and her neighbors to the south be the ones of love and understanding.

MAINLY ABOUT PEOPLE

ONE MINUTE PULPIT
There is no fear in love; but perfect love casteth out fear; because fear hath torment.—1 John 4:18.

J. Donald Mason, chairman of the food panel of the Pickaway county War Price and Rationing Board, spoke Thursday evening at the Pickaway township Parent-Teacher association meeting on the new point rationing system which will be inaugurated March 1.

Mrs. Harold Bowers of Ashville substituted as fifth grade teacher two days this week at Jackson township school while Miss Marie Hogan, fifth grade teacher, was attending the funeral of an aunt in southern Ohio.

Miss Mary A. Howard, who has been convalescing at the home of her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Elliot Howard, of Columbus following an operation which she underwent in Mt. Carmel hospital, has returned to her home, 370 East Union street.

Mr. and Mrs. James Callihan, East Union street, are parents of a daughter born Friday in Berger hospital. Mrs. Callihan is the former Ann Hott. Mr. Callihan is in air corps training at Camp Kohler, Sacramento, Cal.

Mrs. William G. Walls, Watt street, and her baby daughter were removed home Friday from Berger hospital.

Berger hospital attaches report no change in the condition of Frank A. Lynch, South Court street. Mr. Lynch remains in serious condition following a stroke suffered a week ago.

W. I. Spangler, Tarlton, was returned Friday to White Cross hospital, Columbus, for emergency treatment. He was taken from his home in the Defenbaugh invalid car after he suffered a relapse. The former state senator had been returned home last week from the Columbus hospital following a major operation.

Mrs. Beulah Madison of North Scioto street has been informed by the dean of women at Muskingum college, New Concord, that her daughter, Lois, has been placed on the college honor roll because of fine grades she has earned so far in her freshman year. Miss Madison was salutatorian of the Circleville high school class of 1942.

HERBERT LOUIS ENJOYING WORK IN LEGISLATURE

Declaring that he is enjoying his work and that the general assembly is clearing the decks for important work, Herbert E. Louis of New Holland, Pickaway county representative to the general assembly, visited Thursday afternoon with many friends in Circleville.

Serving his first term, Mr. Louis said that the work is interesting. He is the first New Holland resident to ever serve in the Ohio legislature as Pickaway county's representative.

FIRST REQUEST RECEIVED FOR SOLDIER GOODS

One of the first requests for goods to be shipped overseas to a man in service has been received by Charles Mowery, Pickaway township, from his son, Charles, Jr., who is in the south seas.

Under federal postal regulations no packages may be sent to a soldier overseas unless a formal request signed by his commanding officer is submitted to postal authorities.

The formal request presented to the local postoffice by Mr. Mowery was the first the local office has received.

The regulation was inaugurated only recently by the U. S. postmaster.

ATLANTA

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Drake and daughter Marilyn and sons Joe and Dean were the Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Eckle and family of Washington C. H.

Miss Leann Atkins and Carl Binns have received word from their nephew Private Charles Simpson of Leesburg that he is now stationed at Atlantic City, New Jersey with the air corps. Private Simpson was recently inducted into the armed forces with a group from Highland county.

Mrs. Anna Boots of Circleville left Monday for Dayton for an indefinite visit in the home of her daughter.

Mrs. Paul Peck and daughter June and son Bobby and Miss Marcella Gilpin visited Monday evening with Miss Betty Skinner.

Miss Betty Raup, Mr. and Mrs. John Farmer Jr. and Miss Marian Moon were Sunday dinner guests of Miss Raup's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chandler Raup and family of New Morefield.

Private Milton Taylor of the Aberdeen Proving Grounds, Aberdeen, Maryland has been enjoying a furlough at his home in Mt. Sterling. Private Taylor spent several days last week as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Matthews.

ROBERT KELSEY TO SPEAK AT KIWANIS ASSEMBLY

The Rev. Robert T. Kelsey will speak Monday evening at the Kiwanis club meeting in Hanley's tearoom on "Washington". The pastor will substitute for Tom E. Armstrong, high school faculty member, who asked to be relieved because of preparation for War Ration Book No. 2 registration opening Tuesday at the high school. Armstrong is in charge of local registration.

AAA COMMITTEEMEN IN COLUMBUS FOR PARLEY

Members of the Pickaway county AAA committee went to Columbus Friday to participate in a district conference. In the group were John G. Boggs, AAA chairman, Wilbur Brinker and Dewey Downs of the AAA committee; Mrs. Fannie Brooks, AAA farmer fieldwoman, and F. K. Blair, county extension agent.

FAIR SUPPLY OF GARDEN SEEDS SEEN FOR YEAR

Pickaway county gardeners, gardening authorities said Friday, will find a fair supply of most vegetable seeds for 1943. This forecast is in direct contrast to conditions existing in World War I when the nation depended on importations from European countries for many vegetable seeds whose production required a large amount of hand labor.

J. H. Boyd, specialist in vegetable gardening at Ohio State university, informed F. K. Blair, Pickaway county farm agent, Friday, that efforts on the part of many of Ohio's farm leaders had solved some of the labor problems involved in vegetable seed production and that a good crop of seed was harvested in 1942. The harvest of the seed of garden beets in the nation was 2,144,660 pounds as compared with $17,564 pounds produced in 1941.

Mustard seed has been used as an example of tiny seed since biblical times, but seed producers in this nation harvested 397,686 pounds of mustard seed last year. Gardeners will have a pile of 2,146,462 pounds of carrot seeds to draw from when planting 1943 gardens. The supply of cress seed is not so huge, the 1942 crop totaling only 83 pounds.

When considering the old standbys, beans, corn, and peas, the gardener will have some astronomical figures to contemplate. Seed producers harvested 39,613,000 pounds of seed of dwarf wax beans last year, 6,207,000 pounds of hybrid sweet corn, and 109,304,321 pounds of smooth peas. Enormous amounts of other kinds of beans, corn, and peas also are available.

Mr. Boyd says there will be seed enough to plant all gardens which will be well tended. Seed should not be wasted by planting, if the planter does not seriously intend to cultivate, hoe, protect the plants from insects, harvest the crop, and preserve the surplus.

BUSINESS AT POSTOFFICE IN STEADY CLIMB

Business at Circleville postoffice continues to grow monthly. Postmaster Hulse Hays announcing Friday that receipts so far in 1943 are $1,297.15 ahead of the same date in 1942.

More than $20,000 in money order business has been handled so far this year. Wednesday, the postmaster said, was one of the biggest stamp days the office has experienced at any time except during holidays. A total of $557 in stamps was sold during the day.

FARMER POSTS $115 BOND ON LIQUOR CHARGE

John Fyffe, 51, of Circleville Route 1, posted $115 bond Thursday night to appear before Mayor Ben H. Gordon on a charge of driving when intoxicated. Fyffe, a farm tenant, was arrested at 2:45 p. m. Thursday by Patrolmen Turney Ross and Elmer Merriman after he had driven his automobile into the car of N. B. Noble, Laurelville Route 1. The accident happened at Mingo and Franklin streets.

Fyffe was taken into custody several blocks from the one of the collision, police claiming that he fled the scene of the crash. However, they did not put a leaving-the-scene-of-an-accident charge against him.

Front end of Fyffe's Terraplane sedan was damaged and the left rear fender of the Noble car was shattered. No one was injured.

YANKS PRAISED IN PUBLICATION OF FARM BUREAU

Pickaway county Farm Bureau's monthly publication which carries interesting items of information to all members of the organization is dedicated this month to boys in the service.

The Farm Bureau is sending cards to all Farm Bureau members urging them to fill them out with names and addresses of their kin in service so that all names of youths from Farm Bureau families can be put on a service flag. The flag will be placed in the Farm Bureau home.

BANKS, COURTHOUSE AND SCHOOLS CLOSE MONDAY

Washington's Birthday, Monday, February 22, will find official Circleville and Pickaway county observing the national holiday.

Banks, courthouse and schools will be closed, and there will be no mail service. Postmaster Hulse Hays said no windows at the postoffice will be open and there will be no local or rural delivery that day.

CLOVER SEED

We have endeavored to build up our Seed Business in Pickaway County on the following: PURITY and ADAPTABILITY.

Too many people buy seed on eye and price appeal alone. Farmers have suffered tremendous losses, and many of the deceptive practices that have plagued the seed business for years have come about because of thoughtless buying on these two points alone.

Unadapted clover or alfalfa seed may look fine in the bag, but kill out completely in the field.

We have a liberal supply of High Purity and High Quality clover and alfalfa seeds. Also Blue grass — Lespedeza — White Dutch and Timothy Seeds.

AS GOD MADE THEM
PHILADELPHIA—Women patients in hospitals decline to read war literature, but the men patients, on the other hand, clamor for books with war themes, according to a report by Miss Marion Smith, librarian of the Osteopathic Hospital of Philadelphia. Women stick to love stories, she said.

FARMER POSTS $115 BOND ON LIQUOR CHARGE

John Fyffe, 51, of Circleville Route 1, posted $115 bond Thursday night to appear before Mayor Ben H. Gordon on a charge of driving when intoxicated. Fyffe, a farm tenant, was arrested at 2:45 p. m. Thursday by Patrolmen Turney Ross and Elmer Merriman after he had driven his automobile into the car of N. B. Noble, Laurelville Route 1. The accident happened at Mingo and Franklin streets.

Fyffe was taken into custody several blocks from the one of the collision, police claiming that he fled the scene of the crash. However, they did not put a leaving-the-scene-of-an-accident charge against him.

Front end of Fyffe's Terraplane sedan was damaged and the left rear fender of the Noble car was shattered. No one was injured.

YANKS PRAISED IN PUBLICATION OF FARM BUREAU

Pickaway county Farm Bureau's monthly publication which carries interesting items of information to all members of the organization is dedicated this month to boys in the service.

The Farm Bureau is sending cards to all Farm Bureau members urging them to fill them out with names and addresses of their kin in service so that all names of youths from Farm Bureau families can be put on a service flag. The flag will be placed in the Farm Bureau home.

BANKS, COURTHOUSE AND SCHOOLS CLOSE MONDAY

Washington's Birthday, Monday, February 22, will find official Circleville and Pickaway county observing the national holiday.

Banks, courthouse and schools will be closed, and there will be no mail service. Postmaster Hulse Hays said no windows at the postoffice will be open and there will be no local or rural delivery that day.

CLOVER SEED

We have endeavored to build up our Seed Business in Pickaway County on the following: PURITY and ADAPTABILITY.

Too many people buy seed on eye and price appeal alone. Farmers have suffered tremendous losses, and many of the deceptive practices that have plagued the seed business for years have come about because of thoughtless buying on these two points alone.

Unadapted clover or alfalfa seed may look fine in the bag, but kill out completely in the field.

We have a liberal supply of High Purity and High Quality clover and alfalfa seeds. Also Blue grass — Lespedeza — White Dutch and Timothy Seeds.
